

IUP

M A G A Z I N E

Summer-Fall, 1991 ☂ Vol. IX, No. 3

INSIDE:

Indiana's Rainy Reputation

Notes from the Gulf War

Playing Catch-up with the Men

The Predictability of Change

Now that Shari Trinkley has produced a story on rainfall in Indiana, it no longer rains—or, at least, hardly ever rains. But, as this is written, it's only the middle of June; by July, I may well be tangled in the tentacles of the Shop Vac, sucking enough water from my basement floor to fill a dozen wading pools.

The schizophrenia of Indiana's weather probably was not a consideration in John Welty's decision to leave for California. His contributions to the university in the seven years he led it far surpass the space accorded them in the "Lifestyles" section of this issue. One of the smaller contributions—but a major one to us—is the support he gave IUP Magazine two years ago when it came into being.

This spring, we learned that IUP Magazine had won a Distinguished Achievement Award from the Educational Press Association of America. Specifically, the award recognized the Fall-Winter, 1990, cover, which was photographed by John Bender. Two of the magazine's other photographers also won awards recently: John Beale '79, of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, was the 1990 Pennsylvania Press Photographers Association Clip Photographer of the Year, and Tom Campisano, an IUP student, received the 1991 scholarship award from the News Photographers Association of Greater Pittsburgh.

Yet another photographer whose work appears in our pages is Ron Juliette '68. Ron is the coauthor, with Dale Landon, of the recently published pictorial history Indiana University of Pennsylvania: Our Home and Our Love. Advertisements for the book may give the impression that all the photos (and there are plenty) are from before World War II. This isn't so. Readers familiar with the university in the seventies and eighties will enjoy the book as much as their older counterparts. And, yes, a few of the photos do show umbrellas.

Karen Gresh

IUP

C O N T E N T S

Summer-Fall, 1991
Vol. IX, No. 3

Features

- 2 Gulf Impressions
A brief interval in the nation's consciousness, Desert Storm nonetheless had lasting impact on many lives.

- 7 Who'll Stop the Rain?
Is Indiana's abiding reputation for rainy days but a cruel slander? Well, yes. Well, no.

Sports

- 27 Sizzle and Sweat
After ten years, NCAA women's athletics has come a long way. But you know how the rest of the advertisement goes.

Lifestyles

- 9 Welty Leaves IUP
With the departure of its president for California, the university welcomes back a familiar presence to serve in the interim.

Class Notes
Dear Alumni
Marriages
Births
Deaths
Letters

EDITOR:
Karen Gresh
ASSOCIATE EDITOR:
Regan Houser
ASSISTANT:
Anita Hudson
DESIGN CONSULTANT:
West Side Studios, Inc.
Durham, N.C.
CONTRIBUTORS:
Division of Institutional Advancement, IUP Office of Sports Information
PHOTOGRAPHERS:
John Beale, John Bender,
Tom Campisano, Jim Wakefield

IUP Magazine (formerly Oak Leaves) is published by Indiana University of Pennsylvania, a member of the State System of Higher Education.

The magazine's address is Publications Office, 322 Sutton Hall, IUP, Indiana, PA 15705 (telephone 412-357-3062; fax 412-357-7993). Correspondence regarding any aspect of the magazine should be directed to this address.

IUP is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution. Please direct inquiries concerning equal opportunity to Director of Affirmative Action, IUP, G-30 Sutton Hall, Indiana, PA 15705.

FRONT COVER: Photo by John Bender.
BACK COVER: Photo by John Beale.

Gulf Impressions

by Regan Houser

Pamela Kite near Tel Aviv

All of America sat glued to the television during the Persian Gulf War, and the IUP community was as immersed in the conflict as the rest of the country. Two students were killed, at least one student was wounded, scores of alumni were activated, and the campus buzzed with activity and debate. The war touched every segment of the university—students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

When retrospect, Operation Desert Storm came and went very quickly. Sadly, it did not end before two IUP students lost their lives. The impact of this loss on IUP—and especially on our two branch campuses where the fallen students had been studying—was great,” said John Welty, who was at the time president of IUP. “We are also proud of the thirty-nine other students, the four staff members, and the unknown number of alumni who served in this war.”

Now back home in Giessen, Germany, 2d Lt. Pamela Kite '89, trained to operate the celebrated Patriot air defense system, explained her experience through the mail.

“On January 18, we were told to download our equipment, and at 4:00 p.m. we were dismissed from the [NATO] mission and sent home. I went back to my quarters and turned on CNN. Scuds were fired at Tel Aviv, and I was shocked to see reporters donning gas masks. By 8:00 that night, my unit was recalled and told to convoy to Rhein Main Air Base at midnight. Our unit had received a Presidential order to go to Israel, and our mission was priority.”

Kite experienced her first Scud attack her second night in Israel.

“I was manning the command post when I heard the air raid siren wailing. At first I wasn’t sure that was it, but then I opened the door to the command post and the sound was unmistakable. It did sound just like on CNN,” she said. “My fingers were trembling as I pulled

Years from now,
Desert Storm
will still be, for participants and spectators alike, a panoply of remembered sensations.

on my gas mask. I had had not-so-pleasant encounters with training gas before, so I checked and rechecked the seal of my mask periodically. The Scud landed in the desert somewhere, and the all-clear was sounded. The soldiers all looked so relieved. It wasn't until I happened to see myself in a mirror that I noticed the ring around my face the mask had made from being pulled so tight."

Operations during alerts proceeded as planned, she explained. The soldiers who operated the Patriot equipment were used to dealing with mass raids of aircraft during simulations. She said the most difficult part of an alert was having less than a minute to find and engage a target while listening to nervous chatter over the radio and trying to determine when exactly to fire.

"The first time our unit fired was a really emotional experience for most," she said. "Since Patriot missiles are so expensive and require more space than is available in Europe, live fires are only conducted at Fort Bliss, Tex. Most soldiers have never even seen a Patriot fired. Our unit fired seven missiles during our first firing. Some soldiers jumped up and down and cheered the missiles on to their targets. Others thought we were taking incoming enemy artillery rounds and dived into trenches and under vehicles. A captain got so excited he cut his conversation with headquarters off, pulled his mask off, and ran outside to see the firing . . . Suddenly there was a loud roar, a big WHOOSH, and it felt like the whole van was shaking."

After a while, she said, the alerts became nearly routine, but the excitement never stopped.

"At first, hearing the siren begin to wail or the voice on the radio shouting, 'We have a launch for Tel Aviv!' a rush came over you, and you began to automatically think what you had to do next. Everything happened so quickly, yet it seemed to happen in slow motion because you remember everything in exquisite detail. I can best liken it to sitting on the edge of your seat during the tense part of a horror movie. Then, every fiber of your being prayed that the missile would intercept it and blow it away. It was like cheering on a sports team that you have bet your life savings on. After the target disappeared from the screen, you had to wait while ground crews went to see if the Scud was completely destroyed or if damage was done to a house or if casualties were needing help.”

Tom Cumpisano

Angie Gault and her daughter, Anna, at left, were thrilled with welcome-home activities. Jeff Johnson, above, has resumed his classes and civilian lifestyle.

Tom Cumpisano

And there were times when the Patriot did not always work.

“One night there were casualties, and everyone in the van was just sick,” Kite said. “The next day’s Jerusalem Post showed the results of the previous night’s Scud attack. That day, on the site, everyone was quiet and thoughtful.”

In May, Kite was promoted to first lieutenant. She is obligated to the Army for two more years and then plans to pursue her first love, the French language.

“I plan to get a job with either the government or in the private sector, where I can use my language skills every day, possibly in one of the French-speaking Middle Eastern countries or North Africa, if not France itself,” she said. “The war sparked a real interest in the Middle East for me.”

Across the desert, Angie Tulenko Gault ’83 was in a combat-zone hospital seventy-five miles from Kuwait, treating injuries and wondering if an unpredictable Scud would land on her. She signed the letters she sent home “Angie of Arabia.”

Gault, who was activated in January, left her six-month-old daughter, Anna Melissa, and her husband, Bob ’83, in Tennessee.

A lieutenant, Gault had joined the Navy after high school and later attended IUP on the G.I. Bill. Coincidentally, she and Bob, a former marine, had been stationed at the same time at Ft. Le Jeune, N. C. They met on their first day of classes at IUP.

“I knew Bob had good support at home, with our neighbors and friends, and he’s really good with our daughter. But I was worried because when I was activated, the war had started. I didn’t know what to expect,” she said. “I was worried about the uncertainties . . . if the Scuds were loaded with chemicals.”

Gault’s mobile hospital, which she and fellow nurses built themselves, could accommodate five hundred patients and did treat ninety-three percent of those injured. Toward the end, the hospital was reduced to two hundred beds, and mothers of young children were allowed to come home first.

As she was greeted by her family at the airport in Knoxville, Tenn., she made an impromptu speech: “Everybody, I just want to say from all the troops in Saudi Arabia, thanks for all your support. It was evident everywhere.”

In early March most of western Pennsylvania hung on Lt. Col. Paul Rots’s words.

“It was very emotional and very confusing,” said Rots, a member of the Class of 1967 and the public information officer of the Ninety-ninth Army Reserve Command, which includes the Fourteenth Quartermaster Detachment of Greensburg. When a Scud missile landed on the Fourteenth’s barracks in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, Rots was summoned from his civilian job to act as liaison between the Army and the media.

“I’m just a reservist. One day I was doing my job,” explained the Eriez Magnetics salesman, “the next day I was driving to Greensburg.” During those few days of confusion, Rots was seen frequently on television and in the newspaper while fulfilling his duties, which had only been assigned to him the previous year. Before that, he was responsible for developing mobilization plans and in fact had designed the very plan that the Fourteenth used to deploy to Saudi Arabia.

As spokesperson for the unit, Rots was often given news to announce to members of the press immediately after victims’ families were notified of death or injury. While Rots was delivering information on camera, his own son, nineteen-year-old Paul, Jr., was in the midst of a tank battle. Rots slipped away as often as possible to call his wife, Charla Catania Rots ’67, for news of their son.

“I was scared for my son, but I had to take care of things in front of these parents,” he said. “I don’t know that anyone else I was with was in this situation.”

While Rots was worrying about his son, who has

“I WAS MANNING THE COMMAND POST WHEN I
HEARD THE AIR RAID SIREN
WAILING. AT FIRST,
I WASN’T SURE THAT WAS IT,
BUT THEN I OPENED THE DOOR TO THE COMMAND
POST, AND THE SOUND WAS UNMISTAKABLE. IT DID
SOUND JUST LIKE ON CNN.”

since returned safely, someone else’s son was driving around the hot Saudi Arabian desert.

“They gave me a Honda Accord and said, ‘Drive to Bahrain.’ I said, ‘What?’”

So, that’s what he did. Jeff Johnson, a junior safety sciences major who joined the Marine Reserves to help pay for his education, spent most of his time during the war transporting supplies in a truck, transporting VIPs in a Honda, or eating and sleeping in either type of vehicle. Informed of his activation on his twenty-second birthday, the lance corporal was one of thirty-nine IUP students who went off to war. Two fellow students, Army Reservists Christine Mayes and Frank Walls, were killed two days before the cease-fire when a Scud missile slammed into their barracks.

“Because I was driving, I got to see more than other people I’ve talked to. I drove back and forth between Kuwait and Saudi Arabia so many times, and I’d see the same nomads camped by the side of the road. Every time I’d go by, they’d wave—families, but mostly children . . . They’d flag us down and try to trade things,

“One night there were casualties, and everyone in the van was just sick. The next day’s Jerusalem Post showed the results of the previous night’s Scud attack. That day, on the Patriot site, everyone was quiet and thoughtful.”

or we'd just give them candy and food. If anyone ever says we shouldn't have been there, I've got some pictures to show.

"The prisoners we took were hungry. We hauled them after they were taken prisoner—most of them gave up," he said. "I had twenty-four prisoners in the back of my truck, and one of them spoke English. The oldest one had to be seventy, and the youngest must have been fifteen or sixteen."

Johnson said that many Iraqis were put in positions, given rifles, sometimes given uniforms, and told not to go toward Saudi Arabia because of mine fields and because the Americans would shoot. Then they were told not to go back north because of mine fields and that they might be mistaken for Americans and shot.

"A lot of them were happy to see us and asked for food. A lot of them had some choice things to say about Saddam Hussein . . . Many of them, when they were drafted, said they thought they were on a training exercise and didn't realize they were in Kuwait. My buddy gave a pair of boots to a prisoner who had no shoes. I gave him socks."

Although Johnson had a radio and was aware of activity around him, he said he heard much of what was happening through rumor or news agencies. He described the night of the cease-fire:

"It's so dark there when the wind blows—no moon, no stars. It's almost like a black fog. We had set up a triangle defense, and I had gotten out of my truck to show people where to go, because they couldn't see. I couldn't see my truck anymore because it was dark. All of the sudden, a rocket went flying—it must have been a half mile away, but it seemed closer—and it blew something up. Then we heard all kinds of voices on the radio, 'Those were tanks. No, it was five tanks. It's an ammo dump.' Then I heard Arabian voices on the radio—that was the first time that ever happened. There were Saudi troops, but they weren't near us. So everyone broke out equipment, and we just sat there, figuring they couldn't see us. I still don't know exactly what happened."

Earlier that day, after depositing some soldiers at a location, Johnson had stopped to fill his water bowl, a large water tank. Fifteen meters away, American troops were clearing Iraqi weapons from bunkers and holes, including a pile of hand grenades. Johnson wasn't close enough to see exactly what happened, but the grenades exploded. His finger was wounded, and he still carries some shrapnel in his legs and arm.

"I was hurt and didn't know it. There were other guys hurt a lot worse . . . Someone looked at my legs and said, 'There's blood on your pants and there's a dent on your leg, but there's no hole on your pants.' There were very small holes. But really, there were more important things for me to do, and I could still walk and move. There was still activity."

Since his return, Johnson has resumed classes. He isn't sure how this experience has changed him, but he's anxious to move on.

"I'm home now, and I want to do it all right now." ☺

Did We Know Enough?

Although the news coverage was almost constant during the Persian Gulf War, there is some question as to whether more light than heat was generated.

"The media had an open-field day in Vietnam. The pool system was used this time, because during Vietnam, clips of GIs being killed were aired," Lt. Col. Paul Rots said. The pool system allows small groups of reporters to go into the field under the watchful eye of the military. The public affairs officer for the Ninety-ninth Army Reserve Command, Rots explained that because of military restrictions, there was virtually no coverage of the U.S. conflict in Grenada and minimal coverage of the Panamanian conflict.

"We were cautious this time," said Rots, although he acknowledged that more openness existed in this conflict than in the previous two.

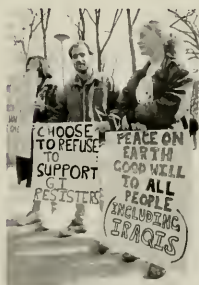

Because the majority of the media allowed itself to be restricted through pooling and debriefings, anxieties about the war that might have been generated by instant media were minimized.

"Average people were denied access," said Dr. Gary Patton, an IUP psychology professor. "Therefore, they could not make true judgments."

At IUP, as at other universities across the nation, opinions and notions flew like missiles. The campus experienced a variety of activities, from "Support the Troop" rallies to peace demonstrations. Points and counterpoints appeared in each issue of the student newspaper.

"I think both sides had preconceived notions," said Patton, who has taught a class on political behavior. "They were propaganda-driven. On one hand, there were people who said war is wrong no matter what the circumstances are, even though we know that Saddam Hussein could be compared to Hitler. On the other hand, people said we must support the troops. Well, everyone supports the troops. Vietnam vets were treated unjustly when they came home, although they served their country honorably. People have felt badly about that and have bent over backwards to treat [these troops] equitably. In doing that, the real issue at hand might have been lost. I think both sides were pretty heavy-handed."

Patton said he also believes that the media itself became obsessed with supporting the troops fairly, the result of which was a deference to the wishes of the military.

Tom Campisano

Tom Campisano

Andy Stumes/Pittsburgh Press

Tom Campisano

Clockwise from top: Family and friends of the troops, as well as other well-wishers, attended a support-the-troops rally in the Oak Grove.

Paul Rots was the Army's spokesperson when an Iraqi Scud missile hit a barracks that housed the Fourteenth Quartermaster Detachment. Two of the attack's casualties were IUP students Christine Mayes and Frank Walls.

During the war, American flags fluttered throughout the Indiana community. They were particularly visible at a March rally held on campus in support of the troops.

Carrying placards was one way of displaying protest.

Who'll Stop the Rain?

by Shari Trinkley

Is IUP the “Rainy Day Capital of the World”? Does it really rain more in Indiana than it does, say, in Pittsburgh?

An intriguing question, especially since circumstantial evidence collected through the years seems to confirm that supposition. A brief review of meteorologic history at IUP shows that rainy weather has been very democratic as it drizzled or poured on homecoming parades, football games, commencement ceremonies, and freshman orientation tours. Even Indiana's favorite son, Jimmy Stewart, was soaked during his celebrated visit to campus in 1976. No occasion, regardless of its importance, has been spared the sky's fury.

Everyone has a favorite “rainy day” story about IUP. Mine extends an entire semester: the fall of 1980. According to my recollections, it rained, and rained, and rained, and rained. And, when it stopped raining, it snowed. Okay, maybe I'm exaggerating . . . a bit. But, I do remember a few significant details. An umbrella was a part of the everyday uniform. “Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head” (with adapted lyrics significant to IUP) was the most sung song of the time. Construction on the Patrick J. Stapleton, Jr., Library caused tons of mud in the Oak Grove. Mud sliding in the Governor's Quad was a favorite pastime.

It rained so much during that semester, we even renamed the school “Indiana University of Precipitation.” We had T-shirts printed with the adopted name and wore them proudly, especially during drizzles. (It's poetic justice that my T-shirt became the rag that washed my car once it became an unwearable relic.)

I didn't think much about those days until Karen Gresh, editor of IUP Magazine, approached me with her story concept. Then, I had to discover the truth—was IUP located in the “Rainy Day Capital” as well as the “Christmas Tree Capital”?

While we may think it rains a lot in IUPland, according to the National Weather Service, Indiana County is one of the drier parts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

“Southwestern Pennsylvania does not get a huge amount of rainfall compared with others parts of the state,” said Richard Leonardon, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service's Allegheny County Station. “We receive plenty of rainfall to support the farming and vegetation in the area, but it's not a huge amount.”

According to the National Weather Service, the southeastern (Philadelphia) and northwestern (Erie) parts of the state receive more precipitation because of the influences of the Atlantic Ocean and the Great Lakes. The precipitation for Pittsburgh and the Allegheny County region is slightly affected by the Allegheny, Monongahela, and Ohio rivers.

“Generally, Indiana County may have thirty-six to thirty-eight inches of rain a year, where Pittsburgh will receive thirty-six to forty inches,” Leonardon said. “However, the past two years have been exceptional, and we've recorded more precipitation than normal. In

Depending on how you look at it, Indiana's reputation for excessive precipitation may be all wet.

"It does rain quite often in the area. That means Indiana experiences some precipitation—rain or snow—almost every other day throughout the year."

John Bender

1989, we recorded forty-two inches, and 1990 proved to be the wettest year on record in more than a hundred years with fifty-two inches."

Okay, I'm not one to argue with barometric and isothermal patterns. However, I still wasn't convinced that IUP didn't have claim to some form of meteorologic phenomenon.

"Well, it does rain quite often in the area, about 140 to 150 days a year," Leonardon confessed. "Generally, that means Indiana experiences some precipitation—rain or snow—almost every other day throughout the year."

Now we were on to something.

"Southwestern Pennsylvania receives light, dreary rainfall for a longer period of time most of the year than, say, someplace like New Orleans, which experiences heavy precipitation in shorter hours," Leonardon explained. "This situation may lead to the perception that it's always raining in Indiana."

I felt somewhat justified in my quest with that revelation. That was until Mr. Weatherman noted we were at that point [in June] approximately three inches below normal in precipitation for 1991. This, in turn, had reduced river levels to seventy-five percent of normal. If the low precipitation, combined with warmer-than-normal temperatures and increased evaporation rates, continued, some water shortages would be assured in the months ahead.

I explained to Leonardon that, more often than not, it rained when IUP scheduled freshman orientation programs. We would be happy, I said, to institute a few more tours if that would help the precipitation predicament.

"It couldn't hurt," came the response. ☹

Shari Trinkley '81 is director of annual giving at IUP.

Welty Leaves IUP

In May, IUP President John Welty accepted the president's position at California State University at Fresno. He left IUP in early August, and Charles Fuget, former dean of the College of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, has been appointed IUP's interim president while a national search for a permanent president is conducted.

Welty joined IUP as vice president of student affairs in 1980 and was named interim president in 1984 after the resignation of John Worthen. In 1985, he was unanimously approved by the State System of Higher Education Board of Governors as the university's nineteenth president.

During Welty's term in office, enrollment increased by more than twelve percent to well over fourteen thousand students. The number of faculty members rose by fifteen percent, and private fundraising increased by 250 percent. A recent accomplishment of his administration was state approval and funding for construction of a $10.3-million building for the College of Business.

In addition to service to the Indiana community through work with several organizations, Welty has served the broader field of higher education. At the time of his resignation, he was past president of the Pennsylvania Association of Student Personnel Administrators and chairperson of the Pennsylvania Campus Compact, Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities, and Commission for the State System Universities. He also led the Network Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alcohol Abuse on College Campuses and has chaired two national forums on substance abuse in higher education.

Fuget came to IUP in 1971 and served as dean from 1977 to 1988.

Tom Campanaro

John Welty presides over his last commencement ceremony as IUP's president.

For the past three years, he was the state education department's deputy secretary and commissioner for higher education. This is the second time he has followed in Welty's footsteps: in 1984, when Welty was appointed interim president, Fuget became acting vice president for student and university affairs, filling the post Welty had vacated.

Guilt Pangs

IUP Magazine recently received an anonymous note. "To Whom It May Concern: Here's ten dollars I figure I owe from once upon a time. I ate two or three or four breakfasts and didn't pay. Didn't have any money at the time. Give to whatever fund you choose."

Whoever you are, your thoughtfulness is appreciated. You should know that the money was placed in the university's annual fund, which supports any number of things—from library acquisitions to student scholarships.

Election Results

More than a thousand mail ballots were received from Alumni Association voters in the election for three members of the association's Executive Board. Of the six candidates who sought election, the following three had the highest vote totals: Glenn Cannon '71, Pittsburgh; Robert Shoemaker '60, Butler; and Jack Wagner '74, Pittsburgh.

Suggestions for Executive Board nominees may be made at any time by contacting the alumni office. Nominees must have received a degree from IUP or from one of its predecessor institutions.

Opportunities

As more and more alumni across the nation turn to their alma maters for career assistance, IUP's Office of Career Services has signed an agreement with kiNexus to participate in a national computerized database of students and alumni seeking employment. By calling 1-800-828-0422, alumni seeking full-time jobs can request a kiNexus Registration Kit. There is a $25.00 shipping and handling fee, which is paid directly to kiNexus. More information about the program may be obtained from IUP's Office of Career Services.

The National Student Exchange will mark its twenty-fifth anniversary during the 1992-93 academic year and is seeking the views of former exchange students for publication. Former NSE participants are asked to contact Bette Worley, Executive Director, National Student Exchange, 4656 West Jefferson, Suite 140, Ft. Wayne, IN 46804. Fax: 219/436-5676.

Honored for education: Dr. William Snyder '58 received a 1991 Distinguished Alumni Award in June for his contributions to public education. The superintendent of the Central (Pa.) York School District, he was named 1990 Pennsylvania Superintendent of the Year and was a finalist for the National Superintendent of the Year. He also was recognized in the Executive Education 100 as one of North America's leading educational managers. He and his wife, Patricia Miller Snyder '58, live in York.

For art's sake: Dr. Barry Moore '55, an Illinois State University professor, received a 1991 Distinguished Alumni Award in June for his accomplishments as an art educator. In addition to his teaching duties, he is curator for the International Collection of Child Art and is recognized worldwide for developing exhibits and exchanges. In 1980, he organized three exhibits for the 1980 Olympics, and in 1990, he studied teacher preparation and art in general education in the People's Republic of China. Moore has published numerous documents in a variety of media and has addressed both national and international groups. He and his wife, Mary Grader Moore '56, live in Normal, Illinois.

Class Notes

20s

A resident of Raleigh, N.C., Margaret Bruce Clark Horn '21 celebrated her ninetieth birthday in July. She offers a current events program every week and has been in the public practice of Christian Science for nearly fifty years.

30s

A teacher for fifty-nine years, Henrietta Harper Pope '32 continues to tutor every day. She lives in Ann Arbor, Mich., and would like to hear from classmates.

40s

Former public relations director of the Carnegie Library in Pittsburgh, Lenore Weatherly Bayus '44 has been elected for a four-year term as president of the Board of Managers of The Woodwell, a retirement residence in Wilksburg. Lenore, who also is the former president of the IUP Alumni Association's Pittsburgh Chapter, lives in Monroeville with her husband, Dan.

The American Association of School Administrators recently awarded emeritus status to Dr. Harry Ray '48, a retired school superintendent. He and his wife, Vivian Grube Ray '43, live in Indiana.

50s

After thirty-five years of teaching, Dr. Charles Smith '55 retired from Northern Illinois University. He lives in Orlando, Fla., with his wife, Miriam Hogue Smith '53.

Edgar Groves '57 was one of ten finalists for the 1991 Pennsylvania Teacher of the Year competition. He teaches choral music and humanities at Hickory High School and lives in Sharon, Pa.

Bowling Green State University ceramics professor Don Ehrlichman '59 and his wife, Sharon, were married last March. They live in Pemberville, Ohio, and own Main Street Studio.

60s

Nutritionist Louise Groves Jacobson '60 is listed in the 1991 edition of Who's Who in American Women. She lives in Germantown, Tenn., with her husband, Jerry, and she is involved in a number of community and professional activities.

In January, Ronald Anthony '61 became president of Interform Corporation in Pittsburgh.

Appointed to full professor at SUNY-Fredonia last September, Mary Jane Torok Debar '61 lives in Babylon, N.Y., with her husband, Maurice.

Dr. Kenneth Rometo '61 was installed as president of the Gli Amici Italian-American Club of Bradenton and Sarasota, Fla.

When Archie Skebeck '64, M'67, John Rajaski '65, and Norm Amorose '65 left IUP, they never thought they'd meet again. More than twenty-five years later, they have found each other coaching basketball in Maryland. Archie, who is head men's basketball coach at Harford County Community College, found his team matched against John's team, Cecil Community College, and against Norm's team, the U.S. Naval Academy freshmen.

Basketball coach Mel Hankinson '65 has been named athletic director of The Master's College in Santa Clara, Calif.

Having served as director of human resources at Cornell University for eight years, Lee Snyder '66 has been appointed associate vice president for human resources at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

Latrobe attorney James Kelley '67, M'78, recently was installed as president of the Westmoreland Bar Association.

Employed by the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, Patricia Metzger Livingston '67 is the new San Fernando regional supervisor of elementary schools. She and her husband, Michael, live in Sunland, Calif.

The Pennsylvania Art Education Association named Judith Richards Meinert '67 one of seven Outstanding Art Educator Award recipients last fall. She teaches in the Northgate School District in Pittsburgh.

Last December, Trudy Fleming '68 and her husband, James, adopted a seven-month-old boy, Noah James, from Guatemala. The Flemings live in Ford City, Pa.

Retired teacher Glenn Zockoll '68 has a Dixieland band, a jazz band, and a big band that play in central Pennsylvania. He lives in Lancaster with his wife, Eva.

Gary Beuke '69 has been reelected president of the Serra Club of Cambria County and was elected treasurer of the Johnstown Chapter of the IUP Alumni Association. Recently, Gary made a commercial for the Allied Funeral Directors about preplanning funerals, which was shown on local television.

In February, the Pennsylvania State Board of Nursing passed a resolution expressing appreciation to Mildred Fincke '69, who has served as a member and vice chairperson of the board. She lives in Allison Park, Pa.

Leland Smith '69, M'72, who earned his law degree from Duquesne University, is an attorney and claims manager for Manville Settlement Trust in Washington, D.C. He and his wife, Charlotte, live in Severna Park, Md.

70s

Assistant Allegheny County solicitor and supervisor of the County Law Department's Domestic Relations Division, Kathleen Durkin '70, M'76, won her party's nomination and is a candidate for judge of the Allegheny County Court of Common Pleas. In the primary, she received more total votes than any Democrat or Republican.

Ohio State University professor Judith Mayne '70 has published her third book, The Woman at the Keyhole: Feminism and Women's Cinema. She teaches French and women's studies and lives in Columbus.

Vocal music teacher for the Southern York County School District, David Nicholson '70 received the 1991 Citation of Excellence in Teaching Award for his district of the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association. He lives in Seven Valleys, Pa.

Special education teacher Karen Pantlik Vance '70 and her husband, Joseph, live in Colorado Springs, Co.

In February, Dennis Anzio '71, who lives in Beaver, Pa., with his wife, Colleen, and son, Thomas Arthur, was elected president of HUB Consumer Discount Company.

Dietitian Barbara Berkoff '71 is home in Harrisburg after being activated to Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, with her Army Reserve unit.

With her husband, Douglas, Susan Knepper Breen '71 has moved back to her hometown, Erie, from Pittsburgh. She is communications and public affairs manager for GE Transportation Systems.

Dr. Ann Dretzka Evans M'71, in response to being new in her area, created, with funding from a local bank, the Lifespace Treasure Coast Environmental Calendar and Directory. The directory and calendar lists information for all environmental groups and their meeting dates in a four-county area. Ann, her husband, Harrison, and three daughters live in Hobe Sound, Fla.

Because of his leadership in helping to establish the Countermarcotics Intelligence Support Office, Defense Intelligence Agency special assistant Robert Sheetz '71 was awarded the agency's Director's Award for Meritorious Service. He lives in Alexandria, Va., with his wife, Candace.

An attorney, Michele Conglose Gatto '72 has been elected counsel, assistant secretary, and assistant treasurer at Paul Revere Insurance Group in Worcester, Mass.

During the last football season, U.S. Air Force Maj. George Mihalick '72 served as a referee for the United Kingdom Sports Conference Championships played at RAF Lakenheath. He also refereed the U.S. Air Forces Europe Championship game. In April, he moved to Norton Air Force Base in San Bernardino, Calif.

In April, Betty Stamm '73, M'76, was selected to manage the 1992 women's Olympic judo team. Betty, who got her start in judo when she was a IUP student, also served as judo team leader for the Pan Am Games, held in Cuba.

In addition to serving as the new registrar of the Frick Collection, William Stout '73, who lives in New York City, is also responsible for publicizing exhibits of the collection, which is housed in the former Henry Clay Frick mansion. He serves as an adjunct instructor of SUNY's Fashion Institute of Technology, and he has published a series of articles on French eighteenth century furniture in Auction Forum USA.

Morgan Troll, son of Linda Kornis Troll '73, M'76, had a book published by Windy City rendezvous: Six nursing alumnae have met for a reunion every year since their graduation in 1975. The 1990 reunion took place in Chicago. From left are Helen Lees Kravetz, Marilyn Bowersox Snyder, Carleen Aloe Banks, Denise Shellhammer Weisbrodt, Marsha Sottile Kubisiok, and Sally Crozier Keller.

Raintree Publishers as a result of winning a contest and subsequently received a congratulatory note from Vice President Dan Quayle. Linda, her husband, David, and Morgan live in Somerset, Pa.

The largest civil judgment ever rendered in a Medicare fraud case recently was won by assistant U.S. attorney David Ward '73. The suit was filed against a Philadelphia dentist who had submitted more than thirty-six hundred false claims. The final judgment against the dentist was nearly nineteen million dollars.

Senior counsel for CertainTeed, John Mesher '74 has been elected the corporation's assistant secretary. He lives in Downingtown, Pa.

Stefan Brodsky '75 recently completed his first year of broadcasting the play-by-play for Metropolitan State College's men's basketball team. He also does freelance work for national cable outlets, such as ESPN and TBS Sports, in addition to sports documentaries on a Denver PBS affiliate station.

President of an Atlantic City, N.J., public utility, Robert Fitzgerald '75 is a board member of the New Jersey Utility Association and board director of the Greater Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, Connie, live in Brigantine.

Tom Songaware '75 is a real estate broker and broadcaster in Raleigh, N.C., where he lives with his family. Operations manager for AAA in Butler County, Howard Johnson '75 and his wife, Susan, live in Washington, Pa., with their children, Lauren and Grant.

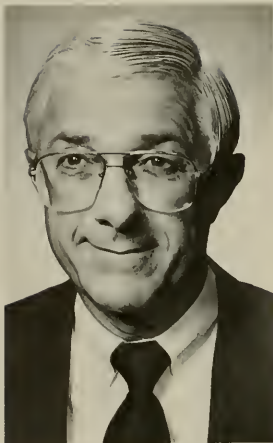

Carol Worthington Levy '75, who is the creative director of Worthington Levy Creative in Northridge, Calif., won a silver CAPLES award, which is an international award for direct response excellence, for her work on TiniBini, a children's clothing catalog.

Math teacher Nancy Francis Mogle '75 has been named in the 1990 edition of Who's Who Among America's Teachers. She lives in Marion Center with her husband, Robert.

Army Maj. Joseph Russell '75 arrived back home in Hinesville, Ga., from the Persian Gulf March 24. He served with the Twenty-fourth Infantry Division.

Studying for his M.B.A. at Duke University, George ("Butch") Aggen '76 has been promoted to state director of MCI Communications in North Carolina.

A year after relocating to Palmetton, Pa., Diane Pearson Danielson '76, M'77 founded Palmetton Preschool Co-op, where she is the director and head teacher. She and her husband, Rodger, have four children, Stentor, Eric, Patrick, and Leah.

Human resources general: Leonard Hoch '59, a brigadier general in the U.S. Army Reserves, received a 1991 Distinguished Alumni Award in June for his dual career achievements in the military and in the corporate human relations field. Of the hundreds of IUP ROTC graduates, Hoch is one of only three to have attained the rank of general. The commander of the 464th Chemical Brigade, he has earned several decorations, including the Meritorious Service Medal, the Army Achievement Medal, and the Army Reserve Achievement Medal. In civilian life, Hoch is vice president of human resources for Westinghouse Credit Corporation. He and his wife, Joan, live in New Kensington, Pennsylvania.

At the recent wedding of Dr. Cathlyn Hartung '76 and Jeffrey Coles, Jonl Landy '76 was a member of the bridal party, while Becky Beers '76 and Bill Georgian '77 were in attendance. Cathlyn and Jeffrey live in Gaithersburg, Md., and Cathlyn's chiropractic practice is in Silver Spring.

Carl Hisiro '76 has been appointed assistant chief deputy of the antitrust section of the Pennsylvania Attorney General's Office.

Last October, Adair Wallace Lawrence '76 began a new job as manager of sales and service training for the corporate office of Blue Cross Blue Shield of North Carolina. She lives in Cary with her husband, Jim, and sons, James and Benjamin.

A physical education teacher, Marilyn Dawson Mathis '76 earned her master's degree in physical education supervision and administration from Old Dominion University. She and her husband, Daniel, live in Virginia Beach.

Claus Parow '76 is vice president of manufacturing at SUPREX Corporation, a Pittsburgh chromatography equipment manufacturer. He and his wife, Ann '68, and their children, Erik and Kristen, live in Murrysville.

Last July, Ronald Scott '76 was promoted to district manager of twelve Marshalls, Inc., stores in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Selected Outstanding Student of the Year, Richard Walters '76 earned an M.B.A. from Pace University in May. He and his wife, Christine Race Walters '72, live in State Hill, N.Y., with two sons.

Back in the full-time workforce, Nancy Hockenberger Anderson '77 is a sales specialist in the supermarket banking division of Mellon Bank. She and her husband, Leonard, and her seven-year-old daughter live in Allison Park, Pa.

In a recent letter, Donald Olnotto '77 apologized for being so elusive and provided an update of his life since graduation. He worked for several years for Big Eight public accounting firms after passing the CPA exam. Since then, he has held four positions with Heinz Pet Products, where he now serves as general manager of distribution and transportation. He lives in Union, Ky.

Pamela Waitenbaugh Carolla '77 has begun a new job after a tough year. Last year, she gave birth to a daughter, Cassandra Louise, who died from Sudden Infant Death Syndrome. In January, she became divorced. Pam is now an inorganic chemist with Wallover Oil Company after eleven years of teaching. She lives in Strongsville, Ohio, and would love to hear from classmates.

Last September, Paula Byers Hepter '77 cofounded the Cumberland Valley School of Music, which now has 318 students and twenty-five faculty members, several of whom are IUP graduates. Paula, who lives in Chambersburg with her husband, Sam, now serves as the school's program director.

Pembroke, Mass., resident Paul Hough '77, who is product technical manager for Armstrong World Industries' Braintree, Mass., facility, received one of the company's Innovation Center Awards.

After serving as an auditor for fourteen years for Hills Department Stores, Bill Keneski '77 became the internal auditor for Universal Tire. He and his wife, Brenda, live in Nashville, Tenn.

School principal at the State Regional Correctional Facility at Mercer, Richard Learn '77, M'84 earned his Ph.D. in education from the University of Pittsburgh in April. He and his wife, Amy, live in Meadville.

McMurray, Pa., resident Gary Madich '77 has earned the Chartered Financial Analyst designation. He works for Federated Investors, Inc.

In the past several years, Frank Tatone '77, M'81, who is a teacher and writer, has been recognized for his work. He was awarded first honorable mention by the Laurel Arts Poetry Forum, was published in American Poetry Anthology, 1989, has completed with a coauthor a sampler book titled The Old North Hills (of Pittsburgh), and was listed in Who's Who of Rising Young Americans, 1991.

Living in England with his wife, Anne-Marie, and son, Michael, David Zertshnek '77 has been promoted to director of logistics operations for Cunard Shipping, Ltd. He coordinates global contracting services for the Queen Elizabeth II and six other passenger vessels.

McMurray, Pa., resident Stella Barr Banas '78 is the new controller of KDKA Radio and TV in Pittsburgh and is now responsible for financial planning and accounting for the two stations.

June Blotnick '78 has completed her master's degree in higher education at Appalachian State University. She and her husband, Doug Sea, live in Charlotte, N.C.

Freelance writer and columnist for the Tigard/Tualatin Times and Beaverton Valley Times, Pamela Bothwell '78 received an Award of Merit from the Oregon Newspaper Publishing Association for best local column. She lives in Beaverton, Ore., with her husband, John Stott, and children, Jocelyn, Caitlin, and Conor.

Married last October, Mark Frank '78 and his wife, Mary, will serve as the event directors for the 1992 U.S. Orienteering Championships. Mark, who earned his M.B.A. degree from Villanova University in 1989, is manager of financial reporting and planning for MG Industries in Valley Forge, Pa.

The new president of the National Center for Sports Medicine, Paul Grenaldi '78 works for Practical Health Services and lives in Silver Spring, Md.

Having received her M.A. Ed. from the University of Phoenix, Janet Hudzicki '78 is now the director of a brand-new training program at the Hays Pathology Lab School of Medical Technology. She lives in Hays, Kan.

Administrator for Swatara Township, E.J. Knittel '78, M'86 presented "Contracting with Local Government: Playing Politics" at the National Pavement Maintenance Exposition last January. He and his wife, Lori Griffin Knittel '78, who is self-employed with Griffin Computing Services, live in Harrisburg with their son, Christopher.

Respiratory therapist and registered nurse Debra Levenson Mammella '78 is currently nursing at Mercer Medical Center and for the Delaware Valley Pediatric Association. She and her husband, Leonard, and children Seth, Sarah, and Beth, live in Morrisville, Pa.

The child-care center that Linda Farniac Maurer '78 coordinates is one of twelve initial centers funded as a Pennsylvania governor's model center. Mark Maurer '78 is a program specialist for City/State Management Team in Philadelphia. Linda and Mark have a daughter, Lindsay.

On the faculty at Bowling Green State University in Ohio, Mark Munson '78 conducts choruses, teaches classes in choral music education, and supervises student teachers. He earned his Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Cincinnati this year.

Deputy director of contracts for the U.S. Air Force in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, Jim Patterson '78 reports that he and his wife, Georgine Huth Patterson '79, and their sons, James, Nicholas, and Bo, welcome calls from fellow IUP alumni in Riyadh.

Johnstown resident Joselle Coco Skelley '78, who is a teacher in the Westmont Hilltop School District, and her husband, John, who is serving in the Second Marine Division in Saudi Arabia, have two children, John Patrick and Jaclyn.

Kone Crane Service and Manufacturing sales manager Joe Stakel '78 recently moved from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati with his wife, Lynda, and daughter, Samantha.

Supervisor of speech services for Easter Seals of Beaver County, Kelly Gache Wauthier '78, M'80, lives in Aliquippa with her husband, Paul, and children.

After taking several years off to raise her children, Judy Antanis Anderson '79 has resumed a full-time career as a copywriter for Elisco and Herrmann. She and her husband, John, and sons, Paul and Luke, live in Pittsburgh.

A psychotherapist in private practice, Cheryl Tardosky Anderson '79 earned her master's degree in counseling psychology from Nova University in February. She and her husband, Stephen, and daughter, Meagan Anne, live in Islamorada, Fla.

Beverly Spargo Bachri '79, an account representative for Metropolitan Life, lives in Pittsburgh with her husband, Syamsul. The Bachri family restaurant was named among the top ten restaurants in 1990 by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

While her husband, Mark, flew sorties into Iraq during the Persian Gulf War, Bobbi Nardina Checchio '79, M'81, organized support groups for Navy spouses in the Virginia Beach area. Bobbi recently was named district director for Creative Dance for Children.

Richard Heylman '78, who lives in Gilbertsville, Pa., with his wife, Judy, is East Coast sales director for healthcare information systems for the Compuware Company.

Promoted to assistant vice president of auditing at Mellon Bank Corporation, Gary Molinaro '79 lives in Finleyville, Pa., with his wife, Barbara, and son, Timothy.

Coraopolis, Pa., residents John Power Smith '79 and his wife, Kim Matarrese '80, have a son, Billy. John is controller for KBL Sports in Pittsburgh, and Kim is a customer service agent for USAir in Baltimore.

80s

Marguerite Leahey Campbell '80 and her husband, Shaun, and son, Brian, live in Royersford, Pa. Marguerite works for Philadelphia Electric Company.

Nutritionist for the North Hudson Regional Council of Mayors, Stephanie Tepper Cohen '80, who lives in Fort Lee, N.J., wrote an article for the spring/summer, 1991, issue of Healthy Kids Magazine.

Steven Cole '80 has been promoted in Pillsbury's direct sales division to Chicago region sales manager. He and his wife, Mary Beth Weitzel Cole '82, live in Cary, Ill.

A specialist in narcotic and criminal undercover operations for the U.S. Naval Investigative Service, George Hood '80 currently is assigned to the San Diego Regional Office. He earned his master's degree in 1984 from National University. He and his wife, Sharon, and son, Christopher, live in Oceanside, Calif.

Employed by Rohm and Haas, Bill Kane '80 was promoted to market manager of construction products. He and his wife, Michelle Wood Kane '80, who is senior communications specialist with CIGNA Corporation, live in Maple Glen, Pa., with their children, Will and Kristen.

Clinical dietitian Gina DeStefano Kowalski '80 is in a job-sharing position at Radford Community Hospital. She and her husband, Gerry, recently moved to Blacksburg, Va., with their son, Gregory.

Chief physician of the emergency room at Womach Army Community Hospital at Ft. Bragg, N.C., Maj. Dave Kuhns '80 has become board certified in emergency medicine. His wife, Mariene Weiler Kuhns '82, is pursuing a B.S. in nursing.

Scott McDowell '80, who is an English teacher at Bolivar Central School, is studying for his master's degrees in reading and elementary education at St. Bonaventure University. He lives in Port Allegany, Pa.

A senior systems analyst for Cincinnati Bell Information Systems, Tori

Jim Wakefield

Hayden McManus '80 lives in Fredericksburg, Va., with her husband, Mike.

Sports editor of the Bedford Gazette, Paul Rowan '80 recently was honored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association for sports photography.

Certified public accountant Karen Barton '81 has been named an associate of Burt Hill Kosar Rittelmann, an architectural and engineering firm. Based in the Butler, Pa., office, she serves as the finance director in corporate and regional offices.

Trish Carey '81 married William Fisher last September. Renee Bogie Hughes '80, who also is newly married, was in the wedding party. Trish also reported the following: Peg Judge '79 and her husband, Al Amoroso, now have a second child, named Laura Ashley. Renee Sebastian Mills '82 and her husband, Gary, bought a new home in Scottsdale, Ariz., after their marriage in November; and Annie Gingrow Marchand '81, who is a paralegal, and her daughter, Rachel, live in Framingham, Mass.

The new loss control supervisor for Harleysville Insurance Company's Allegheny office, Gary Gillespie '81 lives in New Brighton, Pa., with his wife, Peggy, and two children.

A financial planner for SMA Financial Services in Pittsburgh, Phil Henry '81, M'82 is a board member of the Pittsburgh Life Underwriters Association and has been named in Who's Who Among Rising Young Executives.

Lori Rakestraw Isack '81 has moved to Birmingham, Ala., with her husband, Ronald, and son, Benjamin Jacob.

Musical folks: Members of the I-Uppers, the award-winning folk music group that performed around the country during the sixties and seventies, returned to campus in December for a reunion performance in honor of IUP's twenty-fifth anniversary of university status. Leonard DeFabo, who was the group's director, offered remarks at the performance.

Lori is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta alumnae association and the Sisterhood of Temple Beth-El and does publicity for both organizations.

Bruce Levy '81 and Joyce Hinkle Levy '82 recently completed the adoption of their son, Benjamin Marshall. The Levys live in Shippensburg, Pa., where Bruce teaches at the local high school, and Joyce works for the Head Start program.

Lancaster Laboratories in Lancaster, Pa., recently announced that Dorothy Sullivan Love '81 has been promoted to data review specialist and coordinator.

In honor of the IUP football team's participation in the national championship game, Don McKillop '81 organized a party, which included live satellite coverage of the game and was held in a San Diego sports bar, for alumni of IUP and North Dakota State University. Don, an attorney with Klinedinst and Flichman, lives in San Diego with his wife, Patty, and son, Don, Jr.

Home in the heart: Dr. Helen Hall '69 earned a 1991 Distinguished Alumni Award in June for her contributions to home economics vocational education. The author of more than thirty publications, Hall served as an assistant professor at Oregon State University and is currently chairperson of the vocational education department at the University of Georgia. She was the featured speaker at the international Teachers of Home Economics Specialists Association annual meeting, where she presented ideas for computer applications in home economics. She actively participates in many professional organizations and was granted honorary membership to Phi Upsilon Omicron and the Oregon Association of Future Homemakers of America. Hall resides in Athens, Georgia, with her husband, Bill Moppin.

Distinguished developer: Judith Geyer Kovalchick '65, M'69 received a 1991 Distinguished Alumni Award in June for her accomplishments in land use and her personal commitment to the advancement of education. A former teacher and the current vice president, chief financial officer, and general manager of Kovalchick Corporation, she has helped to preserve, restore, and enhance historic properties and scenic sites, particularly abandoned railroad property. She is also active in community affairs. She and her husband, Joseph, live in Indiana.

A systems analyst for PPG, Ray Pacella '81 lives in Pittsburgh with his wife, Patty Mason Pacella '83, who works for Aristech Chemical Corporation.

Gary Smarsh '81 and Cindy Toth Smarsh '82 remain in the Philadelphia area. Gary is senior hydrogeologist for the New Jersey Department of Environmental protection, and Cindy works for the Bucks County Health Department.

Recently married to Fred Runco, Karen Surma-Runco '81 is rental manager for her husband's business, FCA Properties in Indiana, which rents to IUP students.

Christine Unks Bloom '82 and her husband, Leon, live in Annapolis, Md., with their children, Molly and Max. Chris is a part-time marketing specialist for the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

An administrative dietitian at Polyclinic Medical Center, Inez Steele Colley '82 completed a three-year preplanned experience to be a registered dietitian. She and her husband, Steven, live in Harrisburg.

In the South Park area of Pittsburgh, Mary Cipollone Cullison '82 owns Word Processing Plus, a home-based information management and word-processing service.

Steilacoom, Wash., resident Joanne Dantonio '82, who is a health benefits adviser at Madigan Army Medical Center, has completed her first year of law school at the University of Puget Sound.

Regina Matteucci David '82 lives in North Huntingdon, Pa., with her husband, Keith, and daughter, Elizabeth.

The new associate conductor of the Wellsville, N.Y., Symphony Orchestra, Gregory Eldred '82 lives in Couderport, Pa., with his wife, Darlene Sittler. He is an elementary music teacher in the Couderport Area School District and recently completed three levels of Orff Schulwerk.

Tim Hayes '82, who works in public relations for Pennsylvania Power and Light, is coordinating the publicity for the 250th anniversary of the City of Bethlehem. He and his wife, Ellen Kelsosky Hayes '82, and their daughter, Kelsey, live in Allentown.

Group supervisor at the First Bethel United Methodist Church Day Care, Jill Trusal Juengst '82 lives in Eighty-Four, Pa., with her husband, Mark, and three children, Chris, Kelly, and Eric.

Charleston, W.Va., residents Michele Spaulding Levitz '82 and her husband, Ken, have a daughter, Morgan.

Sherry Burger McHugh '82 earned her master's degree in secondary English education from SUNY-Potsdam in May. John McHugh M'84 is director of planning for Lewis County and designed the county's recycling plan, the second solid-waste management plan approved by the State of New York. Sherry and John live in Lowville, N.Y., with their children, Matthew and Kathryn.

A new position has taken William Nee '82 from Lincolnton, N.C., to Bucyrus, Ohio, where he is human resources manager for the Timken Company's Bucyrus operations.

A full-time mother, Kim Cramer O'Hanlon '82 lives in Pittsburgh with her husband, Bernie, and two-year-old daughter, Kaitlyn Mariah.

After living in California, Cindy Rinker Reimer '82 has moved to Sellersville, Pa., with her husband, Mark. Cindy is associate underwriting consultant for Prudential/AARP Operations.

Owner and operator of Train Stop Bagel Shop in Oradell, N.J., James Rotondo '82, M'84 is engaged to marry Marisa Couzza.

A dentist, Dr. Barry Rotz '82 lives in Zelienople, Pa., with his wife, Dianne Burzese Rotz '81. They have two children, Brenton and Alyson.

In February, Donna Slusser '82 became a special agent with the U.S. Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms in Philadelphia.

Customer service manager for ADC, Donna Steibel '82 recently bought a house in Springfield, Va.

Community relations division chief for the U.S. Air Force Academy, Capt. Theresa Timcik '82 handled public relations for one of the released POWs of the Persian Gulf War. Theresa has since been transferred to a remote site in South Korea for the next year. However, she married Maj. Douglas Lengenfelder on June 6, two days before she left for her post.

Army Capt. Ronda Urey '82 has been assigned to Camp Darby, Italy, where she serves as an officer of the Eighth Theater Area Support Group.

FBI special agent Matt Valles '82 has relocated to Boston with his wife, Kim.

A photographer for the Greensburg Tribune-Review, Susan Wilson M'82 was a Pittsburgh Communications Foundation Golden Quill Awards

Dear Alumni,

finalist. Her feature photo portrayed a Laurel Youth Ballet member.

New Brighton (Pa.) Elementary School teacher Sandra Gacesa Yaria '82 was elected the school's grade chairperson.

Lori Angstadt '83, who lives in Breinigsville, Pa., spent the spring substitute teaching and working in the Lehigh University library. She is now spending her tenth summer as a counselor and tennis coach at Brown Ledge Camp in Colchester, Vt.

Sports information director at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va., Vince Benigni '83 also serves as information director for the Capital Athletic Conference for Division III schools.

Colleen Chesler '85 was a bridesmaid at the November wedding of Terry McDermott Cooper '83 and her husband, Jeffrey.

Power Force, Inc., senior recruiter Linda Hampster-Trocina '83 lives in Atlanta with her husband, Chuck. At their October wedding, Grace Bartek '83 was a bridesmaid.

After five years of teaching music, Christina Livingston Lacey '83 will enter veterinary school at Cornell University this fall. She and her husband, Jim, live in Tioga, Pa.

Allegheny General Hospital compensation analyst Jeff Madia '83 completed his master's degree in industrial relations at St. Francis College in May. He and his wife, Debbie Hassinger Madia '84, who is a credit analyst for Mellon Bank, and their daughter, Marisa, live in Pittsburgh.

Mark Magill '83 has been appointed manager of domestic and international safety for Gates Rubber Company in Denver.

Promoted to head of industrial hygiene at Philadelphia Naval Hospital, JoAnn Irvin Maser '83 earned certification from the American Board of Industrial Hygiene in December. She lives in Jefferson, Pa., with her husband, Brian, and two children.

Promoted to manager of rate analysis for Allegheny Power Service Corporation, Cynthia Menhorn M '83 lives in Greensburg.

In September, Maureen Knowlson Mossman '83 started her own business, M. K. and Associates, which specializes in technical recruiting in the food industry. She and her husband, John, and children, Erin and Jamie, live in West Chicago, Ill.

In 1989, Dwight Huster and Paula McGuire tied yellow ribbons around trees in the Oak Grove to welcome returnees to Alumni Weekend.

For the past three years, I have had the privilege of serving you and IUP as director of alumni affairs. Having that opportunity has been an honor and a pleasure. It is with a great amount of sadness that I am leaving IUP. By the time you read this, I will have become director of development information systems at the University of Maryland System.

As most of you are aware, there is something unique and very wonderful about IUP. I appreciate the many alumni who told me they enjoyed reading my column, and I am particularly pleased to see many alumni proudly wearing their Pioneer medallions at chapter meetings around the country. I leave IUP with a sense of pride and satisfaction in knowing the many things that have been accomplished over the last three years.

We have tried to introduce new programs that would be of benefit to the alumni and the university, too. Among these is an IUP credit card that provides alumni with a way to display their affiliation with their alma mater and at the same time provides substantial revenue to the university. Many alumni have purchased the IUP wristwatch, the IUP lamp, and the alumni ring. More than seven hundred alumni proudly display their Pennsylvania IUP license plates.

Many alumni and friends have attended the receptions held at the away football games and chapter meetings throughout the U.S. Others have made use of the sports "hot line" that provides a synopsis of all our football games an hour after the game has been played. Many have commented favorably about hearing the IUP Marching Band when they call the alumni office.

Before I go, I want to tell you that the contest for the IUP slogan continues. Many alumni have submitted an entry, and there have been several clever suggestions. Please continue to put your ideas and thoughts on paper and send them to the alumni office.

Dwight Huster
Director, Alumni Affairs

Banker and trustee: Kim Lyttle '72, M'74, received a 1991 Distinguished Alumni Award in June for achievements in banking and for his dedication to IUP. Government affairs vice president of Integra Financial Corporation in Pittsburgh, he serves as vice chairman of the Integra Political Action Committee and chairman of the Integra United Way Campaign and is an active member of the American Bankers Association Legislative Liaison Advisory Committee. Lyttle has been a member of the IUP Council of Trustees since 1983 and currently is chairperson of the Student Affairs Committee. He has been instrumental in coordinating the IUP Marching Band's performance at Pittsburgh's annual Light-Up Night.

Promoted to assistant state/region editor at the News Journal, Herb Pinder '83 lives in Wilmington, Del.

Jeffrey Regula '83 is a Latrobe, Pa., policeman. He and his wife, Sandra, have a son, JeffJoe Maximilian.

A research associate at Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic, Cheryl Skrabut Richards '83 earned her M.B.A. from Pitt in December. She and her husband, David, and daughter, Lauren, live in Pittsburgh.

Recently promoted to secretary of the New Jersey State Police and Teacher Retirement Systems Board, Michael Weik '83 is a pension administrator for the State of New Jersey. He lives in Levittown, Pa., with his wife, Mary Beth, and son, Justin.

Having earned her Ph.D. in Chemistry from the University of Tennessee, Dr. Elizabeth Zippi '83 is a post-doctoral research assistant at the National Tritium Labeling Facility at Lawrence Berkeley Labs. She lives in Rodeo, Calif.

Pittsburgh resident Jerry Clark '84 has been appointed assistant vice president of asset and liability management for Pittsburgh National Bank.

Melanie Diantonis '84 recently became a licensed clinical psychologist. She works for the Devereux Foundation, a residential treatment facility for dually diagnosed children and adolescents, and lives in Coatesville, Pa.

Formerly an accountant and systems coordinator for James River Corporation, Beth Feehan '84 has relocated to the Columbia, Md., area with her fiancé, Joe Murri, and is working for Freddie Mac in Tysons Corner, Va., as a senior auditor.

Harrisburg residents Grace Macri Fiorilla '84 and her husband, Tony, have a daughter, Nicole.

Last August, Central Laboratory Services medical technologist Justine Laughner Gaspari '84 earned her M.B.A. from the University of Pittsburgh and gave birth to her daughter, Brooke. She and her husband, Ken, live in Pittsburgh.

Herndon, Va., resident Cheryl Heinauer '84 started her own graphic design business in March. She and her fiancé, Braden Halterman, are planning a September wedding in the Caribbean.

Richard Hunziker '84 was promoted in January to executive account manager for NCR Corporation in Pittsburgh.

For the past six years, registered nurse Donna Kalp '84, who lives in Breimingsville, Pa., has worked in Lehigh Valley Hospital's plastic surgery center and burn unit. Last October, she earned medical-surgery nurse certification.

A buyer for Van Air Systems, Ray Kraus '84 lives in Erie with his wife, Lisa. Attendants at their recent wedding included former student Dan Stroup, Reese Weyant '85, Mike Bova '86, Mary Spadora Bova '87, and Betsy Bicanich '87.

Medical technologist Debra Embleton Ketcham '84 is supervisor of Riverside Clinical Laboratory's chemistry department. She and her husband, Frank, live in Newport News, Va.

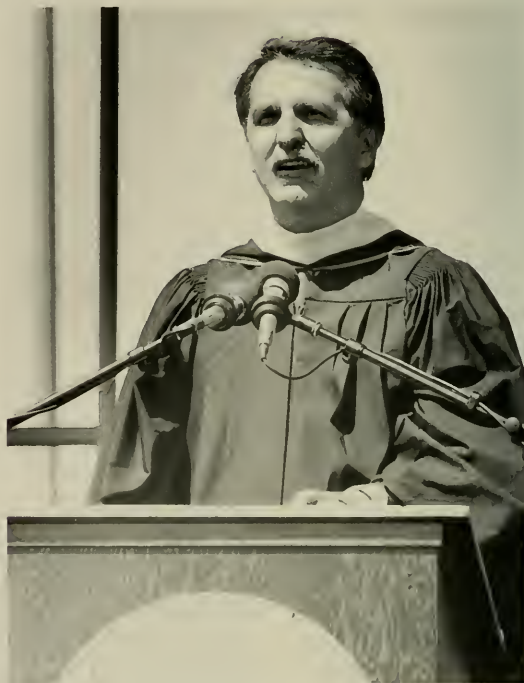

Recently promoted to senior programmer analyst at Delta Dental Plan of Michigan, Maria Mastroberardino Mazur '84 lives in Livonia, Mich., and is studying for her M.B.A. at Wayne State University.

Sherwin-Williams marketing administrator Mary Mackowick McCorry '84

lives in West Chester, Pa., with her husband, David '84, who is general manager for L.L. Meloy and Sons, and new daughter, Kelly. Mary invites her 1984 Brown House roommates, Kathy Exler '84, Kathy Nauer-Protzman '84, Kris Moorhead Fischer-Keller '84, Maria Kozak Krenn '84, Beth Mittenberger Berg '84, and Cindy Elliott Keenist '84 to help her plan a reunion.

As assistant development director for Margaret H. W. Watson Foundation in Sewickley, Pa., Laurie Sturm Nicholl '84 received honorable mention in the 1991 J. Richard Wilson Awards Competition for Development Literature. She developed a direct mail package for D. T. Watson Rehabilitation Hospital. Since that award presentation, Laurie has been named director of development communications.

Steve Pasierb '84, M'86, has joined the Maryland Governor's Drug and Anniversary orator: In honor of IUP's twenty-fifth anniversary of university status, a member of the university's first graduating class was invited to provide the commencement address. William Rusnack '66 is president of ARCO Transportation Company in Los Angeles. He and his wife, Marsha Zamberlan Rusnack '66, have two children.

Alcohol Abuse Commission as marketing and advertising manager.

Currently pursuing a master's degree in labor relations at IUP, David Piper '84, M'89, is business manager in the Mt. Union Area School District. He and his wife, Jill, and new son live in McVeytown, Pa.

Stratton Publishing and Marketing account executive Tracy Feilin Savidge '84 is also a freelance writer. She and her husband, Bob, live in Washington, D.C., with their daughter, Kara Ellen.

Christine Stewart '84 is senior financial analyst for cash and debt management for the State System of Higher Education in Harrisburg.

A registered nurse at Lee Hospital in Johnstown, Lori Bowman Sturey '84 is attending Altoona Hospital School of Anesthesia for Nurses. She and her husband, John, have two children, Courtney and Ethan.

In his new position, James Taylor '84 is senior business analyst for McDonnell-Douglas Space Systems. He works at Goddard Space Flight Center and lives in Columbia, Md.

After studying equine medicine at the University of Vienna in Austria, Utrecht University in the Netherlands, and the University of California at Davis, Dr. Nancy Voytosh '84 graduated in May from the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. She lives in Allison Park, Pa.

Married in the Virgin Islands, Marcia Tokar Arena '85 and her husband, John, live in Great Neck, N.Y., where Marcy is a sales representative for Baxter Healthcare Corporation.

Named class scholar of the December, 1990, Honolulu Police Academy class, Peter Boyle '85 serves on the city's police force. As a captain in the Army Reserves, he was on alert during the Persian Gulf War. Peter has a four-year-old son, John Hekili.

Tish Kownacki Brown '85 and Scott Brown '85 live in Raleigh, N.C. Tish is a food chemist at Webb Chemical, and Scott is a researcher for Management, Research, and Planning.

An insurance specialist with the Veterans' Administration, Henry Demby '85 lives in Philadelphia with his wife, Joyce, whom he married June 13, 1987. They have two children, Jahmar Austin and Khalil Dontae.

At the March wedding of Jody Plonk Ebbitt '85 and Jeffrey Ebbitt '86, Joe Ebbitt '85, Mike Emanuele '85, Sandy Massironi '86, and Janine Ebbitt '89 were attendants.

A rehabilitation counselor for Crawford and Company, Linda Ember '85, who lives in Baltimore, earned her master's degree in counseling psychology at Towson State University. She is engaged to marry Robert Miller '82, a self-employed sculptor who also lives in Baltimore.

In December, Carolyn Fearon '85 earned her M.B.A. degree from Penn State University. She lives in Erie and is an employment counselor for talented temporaries and Snelling Personnel Services.

Carol Soeder Koerper '85 lives in Phoenix, Ariz., with her husband, Michael, and son, Steven Michael.

Promoted to project leader for National Education Centers, Inc., Nancy McHale Latimer '85 lives in Tustin, Calif., with her husband, Timothy.

A Navy petty officer, Francis Little '85 has been stationed aboard the amphibious assault ship U.S.S. Iwo Jima, which is based in Norfolk, Va.

Promoted to Pittsburgh area manager of Colgate-Palmolive, Timothy Lovas '85 received the company's Hall of Fame Award in 1989. He and his wife, Joan Hilderhoff Lovas '86, who is completing her master's degree in education at Penn State, live in Monroeville.

A therapist with Family Services, Rhonda Mateer-Ross '85 lives in Hyde Park, N.Y., with her husband, Bradley. Rhonda recently earned her second graduate degree, a master's in social work from Adelphi University, and completed training her fifth guide dog for Guiding Eyes for the Blind.

A special care unit technician at Harrisburg Hospital, Carl Rossetto '85 is studying for his master's degree in environmental health education at Penn State. He and his wife, Donna, have a daughter, Kiersten.

Alcoa employee Jane Hasselman Bryndel '88 was promoted to information center supervisor. She and her husband, Wayne, live in Louisville, Tenn.

Karen Kot Campbell '86, who earned her master's degree in gifted education from Johns Hopkins University, teaches in the York City School District. She and her husband, Stephen, and son, Blake, live in York, Pa.

West Point professor: Captain David Frye '79 earned a 1991 Distinguished Alumni Award in June for his accomplishments in the U.S. Army. An assistant professor in the systems engineering department at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, he has two master's degrees and has been honored with the Army Commendation Medal and the Army Achievement Medal. Frye has served in a variety of positions in the Army, including security chief at Watervliet Arsenal, where he directed all aspects of security, law enforcement, and intelligence for the nation's only cannon manufacturing facility.

Indiana Gazette

New police commissioner: The Pennsylvania Senate recently confirmed the appointment of Lt. Col. Glenn Walp '79 to commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police. Governor Robert Casey said of the appointment, "Glenn Walp has a long and distinguished career with the Pennsylvania State Police, widely recognized as one of the finest law enforcement organizations anywhere. I am proud to nominate Colonel Walp to be its new commissioner."

Twenty-three IUP graduates attended the wedding of Richard DiMuzio '88 and Jennifer Tabler DiMuzio '88, M'90. Richard is a professor, and Jennifer is an academic adviser at Northeast Missouri State University in Kirksville.

After earning a Master of Library Science degree from SUNY-Albany, Christopher Dixon M'86 has become the documents/reference librarian at St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia.

A trooper with the Pennsylvania State Police, David Guido '86 will take a year's leave to attend Army Reserve helicopter flight school at Ft. Rucker, Ala. He and his wife, former IUP student Marcy Specht Guido, live in Lewistown, Pa.

Scott Howard '88 and Nicole Haus Howard '86 live in Bensalem, Pa., with their daughters, Amanda Nicole and Danielle Elizabeth. Nicole works for Cora Services, and Scott is an industrial hygienist for CertainTeed Corporation.

A sales representative for Dietrich Industries, John Keeler '88 lives in Framingham, Mass., with his wife, Laura, whom he married last October.

National Credit Union Administration auditor Shawn Kelly '88 earned an award for finishing in the top five of the Pennsylvania certified public accountant exam. He and his wife, Anne, live in Pittsburgh.

Jerry Kolman '86 is an orthotics researcher and intern at Southern Illinois University School of Medicine in Springfield.

Decathlete David Medvetz '88 is training for the 1992 Olympics. He lives in Chapel Hill, N.C.

Promoted to vice president of national accounts for Medline Industries, Mark Mega '88 lives in Bloomington, Ill., with his wife, Beth Gilbert Mega '87.

Married in 1987, Chris Miller '88 and Gwen O'Shea Miller '88 live in Greenville, N.C., with their son, Matthew. Chris, who is a medical technologist at Pitt County Memorial Hospital, is studying for a master's degree at East Carolina University. Gwen is an infant specialist for United Cerebral Palsy's Early Intervention Specialized Services.

At the recent wedding of Bonnie Dean Perrotto '88 and her husband, John, attendants included Diane Dean Popp '84, Jim Popp '84, Karen Kern '88, Lisa Samros '86, Diane Dinzeo '86, and Janice Gardner Tirrell '88.

A programming assistant at WBAL in Baltimore, Maureen Ryan '86 will begin graduate studies in applied behavioral counseling at Johns Hopkins University this fall.

An investigator for the U.S. Office of Federal Investigations, Daniel Shoemaker '88 will pursue his master's degree in operations management this fall at Purdue University.

Stationed in Norfolk, Va., Kevin Spillane '88 has been promoted to lieutenant in the Navy.

After graduating from the University of Florida College of Veterinary Medicine in June, Dr. Julie Stephens '88 moved to Southfield, Mich., to practice at Professional Veterinary Hospitals.

Ruth Yeakel '86 earned her master's degree in elementary education in May from Millersville University. She and Andy Gates '86 are engaged to be married in December.

An office interior designer for Swift and Barnes, Patricia Zupko '88, who lives in Wyoming, Pa., is engaged to be married in September. She is working toward NCIDQ membership.

Head swimming coach Kelly Barclay '87 also serves as assistant residence life director at York College.

Married in 1988, Kelly Magee Buck '87 and her husband, Scott, live in Erie. Kelly works for Pennbank/Integra.

Attendants at the July, 1989, wedding of Jennifer Baver Caprara '87 and Al Caprara '88 included Greg Caprara '87, Germaine Baver '89, and Gary Sieber '80.

A member of the Philadelphia College of Optometry Class of 1991, Craig Hoover '87 earned the college's E. F. Wildermuth Scholarship.

Recently nominated for an International Monitor Award for audio postproduction, Karl Kalbaugh '87 is a recording engineer for Soundwave, Inc. He and his wife, Susan Garrett Kalbaugh '85, who is a research analyst for Science Applications International, live in Reston, Va.

In April, Lisa Miller Kaveney '87 relocated to southern Ohio with her husband, Tom. At their wedding last year, Cathy Gardini '88 was a lecturer.

Kathy Scott '87 will marry Jim Sober in September. Attendants at their wedding will be Sue Ann Rykaceski '87 and Donna Brown '86.

Pittsburgh resident Kathy Shearer '87 is a sales representative for W.W. Grainger, an industrial distributor.

After earning her master's degree in athletic and sport administration from West Chester University, Kristin Shearer '87 was hired in October, 1990, as director of athletic and recreation operations at Penn State-Ogontz. She lives in Glenside, Pa.

Amy Shumaker '87 served as associate producer for "Makin' A Way Out of No Way," a documentary about civil and human rights activist Modjeska Simkins that won an American Women in Radio and Television Award and was recognized at the 1990 Houston International Film Festival. Amy works in the cultural programming department for South Carolina ETV in Columbia.

Promoted to assistant project geologist for Rizzo Associates, Matthew Valentine '87 lives in Monroeville. He holds an M.S. in geology from West Virginia University.

At last word, Robert Wilkinson '87 had been mobilized from the Marine Corps Reserve to participate in the Persian Gulf War. He and his wife, Vicki, live in Sterling, Va.

The father of Joseph Campolungo '88 died in October, an event that was the basis for the erroneous report of Joe's own death in the spring issue of IUP Magazine. Joe is very much alive and well and, in fact, was recently married to Lynn Amontellano and now lives in Florida.

Army 2d Lt. Tim Carns '88 attended field artillery officer basic school and has been assigned to Panama for the next three years.

After studying international law in Nairobi, Kenya, and at the Hague Academy in the Netherlands, David Concannon '88 graduated from Widener University School of Law in December. He lives in Philadelphia and for the next two years will serve as a clerk for the Chief Judge of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Having earned his M.F.A. in Arts Administration from Virginia Tech, Edward Davis '88 is currently an independent development consultant in San Francisco.

Fran Higginson DeVivo '88 is a first grade teacher in a Colonial Heights elementary school, where Leslie Fryar '81 is the principal. Fran lives in Chester, Va., with her husband, Joseph. Two of her classmates, Mary Jo Pastorek Giovacchini '88 and Tawny Long '88, served as bridesmaids at their wedding.

Attendants at the wedding of Tonya Gaydosch Duriez '88 and her husband, Doug, were Kevin Gaydosch '85, Joe Ballas '87, Bronwen Seinfelt '87, Sandra Schlientner McCleary '88, and Denise Voke Miller '88.

The new executive director of the American Cancer Society of Beaver County, Emily Fearon '88 is working on her master's degree in training and development at LaRoche College in Pittsburgh.

If you see the legend "IUP 88" on a Pennsylvania license plate, you'll know it belongs to Jon Hackett '88. Employed by Daka International, Jon is assistant director of dining services at the University of Pittsburgh at Bradford.

A student development specialist at the Community College of Allegheny County North Campus, Christopher Hoffer '88 spent the summer camp season as program director of the Eagle Base Boy Scout Camp. He lives in Pittsburgh.

At the November wedding of Jill Dresbach Kelsing '88 and John Kelsing '88, six alumni were in the wedding party and at least fifty alumni attended.

While finishing his master's degree in public health at the University of Utah, David Klanica '88 is working for the Phillips 66 Woods Cross Refinery. David, who lives in Farmington, reports that Utah has the best snow on Earth.

Greensburg Tribune-Review photographer James Kubus '88 earned a Pittsburgh Communications Foundation Golden Quill Award for his coverage of the Pittsburgh Pirates' drive to win the National League East pennant.

Ann LaBar '88 is studying for her Master of Fine Arts degree in creative writing at the University of Alaska in Anchorage.

Duquesne University law student Christopher Lee '88 is editor-in-chief of the university's law review.

Married in 1989, David Schroyer '88 and Kimberly Elret Schroyer '89 live in Hershey. David is a revenue officer for the IRS, and Kimberly is marketing coordinator for Herbert, Rowland, and Grubic, a consulting engineering firm.

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette/John Kaplan

Mark Weldner '88 and Ann Peplinski Weldner '89 live in Greenvale, N.Y., and work at the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University, where Mark was recently promoted from assistant to associate director of admissions.

Graduate assistant Brent Williams '88 is studying for a master's degree in music composition at the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette.

Jayson Wolfgang '88, a third-year law student, represented Dickinson College at the Association of Trial Lawyers of America Moot Court Competition in March.

Army 2d Lt. Keith Barclay '89 is now stationed at Ft. Stewart, Ga., after serving with the Twenty-fourth Infantry Division in the Persian Gulf.

Edmon, Pa., resident David Cartley '89 is a commercial lines underwriter for Harleysville Insurance Company in Monroeville.

Stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., Army 2d Lt. Denise Harpold '89 served in Saudi Arabia. She graduated from airborne school in April, and she is engaged to marry Ralph Steen.

While teaching adult drawing classes at Harrisburg Neighborhood Center, Shelly Lipscomb '89 has exhibited her work at Central Pennsylvania Blood Donor Center, Gallery 110, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, and the Art Association of Harrisburg.

Jeffrey Moran '89, an assistant account executive for Fleishman-Hilliard in New York, is the media relations point person and budget coadministrator for his firm's largest client, the Mexico Secretary of Tourism. He also continues to work with other clients, such as Anheuser-Busch's theme parks and Hispanic marketing division.

After working as one of two field coordinators on the successful campaign of U.S. Representative Rick Santorum, Bob Reich '89 is now back in sales with Wallace Computer Services, where one of his colleagues is Bill McHugh '85. Bob lives in Pittsburgh.

Now living in Chambersburg, Pa., with his wife, Jennifer, Jim Stuncard '89 resigned from Pittsburgh's Gateway Clipper Fleet, where he served as assistant advertising coordinator, to become a Nationwide Insurance claims adjuster.

Promotion director of WWSW AM and FM in Pittsburgh, Ronald Theiss '89 has helped the station, also known as 3WS, become the top-rated "oldies" station in the country.

Peter Weinstein '89 and his wife, Katrina, have started their own business, WOW, Inc., in the Buffalo, N.Y., area. They live with their daughter in East Amherst.

90s

Joanie Fredland '90 is an accounting specialist for Olston Professional Accounting Services and lives in Pittsburgh.

Industrial hygienist Dennis Kelly M'90 lives in suburban Philadelphia and works for marine operations of Sun Transport, Inc.

A fifth grade teacher in the Octorara School District, Aimee Mester '90 lives in Atglen, Pa.

The February Four: Born on February 22, quadruplets Brian, Douglas, Matthew, and Michael pose with their mother, Joyce Ritenour Heckmann '84, and father, Stephen. The Heckmanns are somewhat famous in the Pittsburgh area, because this photo appeared on the front page of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.*

Are you being duplicated? Or triplicated?*

Name _____	Spouse's name _____
Social Security No. _____	Maiden name _____
Address _____	Spouse's SSN (if IUP) _____
_____	Spouse's grad. yr. (if IUP) _____
Graduation yr. _____	Spouse's employer _____
Home phone () _____	News for Class Notes _____
Business phone () _____
Occupation _____
Company/organization _____

*If your household receives more than one copy of IUP Magazine, please let us know.

We'll try our best to eliminate the extras. You are urged to call or write the Publications Office (see the contents page).

Meanwhile, send your alumni news to Regan Houser, Associate Editor, IUP Magazine, 322 Sutton Hall.

Indiana, PA. 15705, or fax to her at (412) 357-7993.

Steve Robinson '90, who lives in Mechanicsburg, is the new public relations director of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

Attendants at the wedding of Lisa King Rowley '90 and her husband, Roger, included Murray King '78, Carrie Duncan Walker '90, Mary Pat Rossetto Frick '90, and Kimberly Hodak '90. Lisa and Roger live in Glen Campbell, Pa.

Rebecca Scott '90, who lives in Ebensburg, is the day-care provider at Richland Academy, a Montessori preschool, kindergarten, and day-care center.

Child development specialist Lori Westfall '90 is working in the new child development center at the North Campus of Community College of Allegheny County in Pittsburgh.

Marriages

60s

Patricia Dixon Kutty '60 to James Walker, March 23, 1991. Sarah Lyons '60 to Paul Miller, April 15, 1989. Susan Kuhn Barnes '68 to John Knupp, November 3, 1990.

70s

Karen Pantik Varuola '70 to Joseph Vance, September 15, 1989. Claudia McClelland '73 to Bill Jason Fields, January 6, 1990. Cathlyn Hartung '76 to Jeffrey Coles, June 15, 1991. Barbara Welmer '77 to Pierce Miller, March 23, 1991. John Fedorka '79 to Lynne Seidling '79, November 24, 1990. Sue Sklar '79 to Harry Graham, October 20, 1990. Robert Vogel '78 to Lynn Kopac, June 1, 1991. Mariane Woodward '79 to Ray Perret, November 3, 1990.

80s

Michele Galbo '80 to Michael Mareno, April 6, 1991. Leslie Fullmer '81 to Mario Aleixo, June 9, 1990. Karen Surma '81 to Fred Runco, July 14, 1990. Beverly Zidek '81 to John Pfeffer, February 23, 1991. Inez Steele '82 to Steven Coiley, May 18, 1991. Jane Davis '83 to David Pence, June 22, 1991. Kimberly Gallo '83 to Timothy Limbacher '87, April 6, 1991. Terry McDermott '83 to Jeffrey Cooper, November 24, 1990. Debra Embleton '84 to Frank Keicham, September 29, 1990. Richard Hundziker '84 to Patricia Gigliotti, June 1, 1991. Kimberly Kemple '84 to Mark Cotti, October 26, 1990. Ray Kraus '84 to Lisa Myers, September 15, 1990. Katherine Rudzinskis '84 to Andy Adomitis, October 7, 1989. Mary Sarella '84 to Gerald Takis, October 1, 1989. Suzanne Czajkowski '85 to Vernon LaForest, January 1, 1991. Jeffrey Eblitt '85 to Jody Plonk '85, March 2, 1991. Theresa Lowery '85 to Daniel McCurren, October 29, 1990. Marcia Tokan '85 to John Arena, April 21, 1990. Martin Cuneo '86 to Jeanne Muchesko '87, May 27, 1989. Bonnie Dean '86 to John Perrotto, October 13, 1990. Richard DiMuzio '88 to Jennifer Tabler '88, M'90, July 21, 1990. Susan Gurst '86 to Steven Berzon, May 20, 1990. Marcella Irons '86 to Richard Anderson, October 6, 1990. Terri McKee '86 to Louis LeDonne, June 2, 1990. Joanne Rini '86 to Joseph Sullivan, December 29, 1990. Kara DeMattels '87 to Bob Kon, November 3, 1990. Jim DeShields '87 to Maribeth McGrogan '88, June 29, 1991. Michele Endlich '87 to Andrew Hiestler, July 8, 1989. Lisa Miller '87 to Tom Kaveny, July 21, 1990. Kimberly Brose '88 to Daniel Webber, July 14, 1990. George Caroff '88 to Kimberlie Lippert '89, June 30, 1990. Jill Dresbach '88 to John Keisling '88, November 3, 1990. Tonya Gaydosh '88 to Doug Duriez, June 1, 1991. Fran Higginson '88 to Joseph DeVivo, August 4, 1990. Deborah Keller '88 to David Snodgrass '88, October 7, 1989. Mark Weidner '88 to Ann Poplinski '89, October 6, 1990. Steven Brown '89 to Jennifer Grotf '88, May 26, 1990. Jan Douglas '89 to David Wojnar, December 29, 1990. Lawrence Steffen '89 to Cindy Powell '90, October 6, 1990.

90s

Lisa King '90 to Roger Rowley, September 1, 1990.

Births

70s

To Dennis Anzio '71 and his wife, Colleen, a son, Thomas Arthur, May 17, 1990. To Sandra Hassler '71, a daughter, Brenna Kaitlyn, November 23, 1990. To Loretta Gladyslewski Ravotti

'71 and her husband, Allen, a son, Michael Mario, November 18, 1989. To Gary Bracken '72 and his wife, Jane, a daughter, Christina Jane, April 18, 1991. To Carol Yawney Sieling '72 and her husband, Richard, a daughter, Mary Catherine, March 8, 1990. To Mary Hancherick Mastrine '73, M'74, and her husband, Raymond, a son, Mark Raymond, March 21, 1991. To Shelley Kochanowski Nicholas '73 and her husband, Anthony, a daughter, Stephanie Lynn, December 25, 1990. To Beverly Childs Pingnot '73, M'74, and her husband, Dante, a daughter, Elizabeth Childs, December 12, 1990. To Jeffrey Popchock '73 and his wife, Joan Mrozowski Popchock '74, a daughter, Elena Mary, March 26, 1991. To Clayton Angle '76 and his wife, Barbara Dillen Angle '76, a son, Caleb Scott, April 4, 1991. To Ron Dibas '75 and his wife, Ronda Schaffer Dibas '76, a daughter, Carly Elizabeth, September 14, 1990. To Tom Gonga-ware '75 and his wife, Pamela Kohl, a son, Max, July 25, 1990. To Keith Halsey '75 and his wife, Deborah Funka Halsey '78, a son, Daniel, June 8, 1990. To Kitty Macey '75 and her husband, Michael Tafler, a daughter, Keagan, October 24, 1990. To Jim Boltz '76 and his wife, Laura, a daughter, Lindsay Mary, December 1, 1990. To Jane Bitter Evans '77 and her husband, Ted, a daughter, Katie Lynn, January 22, 1991. To Linda Able Logan '77 and her husband, Scott, a daughter, Jennifer Lynn, September 22, 1990. To Becky Unrath Mullinary '77 and her husband, Gary, a daughter, Cara Jane, August 29, 1990. To Michael Novak '77 and his wife, Mitzie, a daughter, Thea Slagel, January 18, 1991. To Cynthia Faidley Turnbull '77 and her husband, Emerson, a son, Andrew George, January 16, 1991. To David Zerishnek '77 and his wife, Anne-Marie, a son, Michael Andrew, January 24, 1991. To Johna Bothwell '78 and her husband, John Stott, a son, Connor, December 17, 1990. To Cynthia Stauff Feldman '78 and her husband, Robert, a daughter, Lily, October 22, 1990. To Paul Grenaldi '78 and his wife, Anne Marie, a son, David, April 11, 1991. To Maria Spinabelli tzo '78 and her husband, Carl, a daughter, Maria Kathryn, February 19, 1991. To Joselle Coca Skelley '78 and her husband, John, a daughter, Jaclyn Marie, August 22, 1990. To Joe Stakei '78 and his wife, Lynda, a daughter, Samantha Jean, November 3, 1990. To Kelly Cache Wauthier '78, M'80, and her husband, Paul, a daughter, Kaitlyn Elyse, September 5, 1990. To Cheryl Tardosky Anderson '79 and her husband, Stephen, a daughter, Meagan Anne, April 16, 1991. To Barbara Ausman Cuthbertson '79 and her husband, Scott, a son, Christopher Edward, December 20, 1990. To Diane Davis Haas '79 and her husband, Earl, a son, Steven Earl, December 1, 1990. To Colleen McClain Marshall '79 and her husband, Kenn '80, a daughter, Megan Elizabeth, February 22, 1991. To Gary Molinaro '79 and his wife, Barbara, a son, Timothy John, January 7, 1991. To Cheryl Hartfelder Pearson '79 and her husband, Jim, a daughter, Shannon Noelle, January 31, 1991. To Kathleen Stathas Rucinsky '79 and her husband, Joseph, twin sons, Joseph Andrew and Michael Edward, January 3, 1991. To Roseann Novosel Rush '79 and her husband, Dennis, a son, Joseph Anthony, June 14, 1990. To Suzanne Kozak Smith '79 and her husband, David '79, a son, Alexander Matthew, December 7, 1990. To Susan Dillen Stratton '79 and her husband, William, a son, Josh Dillen, January 20, 1991. To Diane Ehmann Warholak '79 and her husband, James, a son, Geoffrey Brandon, April 14, 1991. To Lisa Yovetich Woodard '79 and her husband, Lon '79, a daughter, Sarah Michelle, September 8, 1990.

80s

To Marguerite Leahey Campbell '80 and her husband, Shaun, a son, Brian, February 15, 1991. To Kathryn Eyan-son Cogley '80 and her husband, Scott, a son, Drew Scott, December 12, 1990. To Blaire Corle '80 and his wife, Susan, a daughter, Sarah Emily, March 13, 1991. To Oliann Houser Devinney '80 and her husband, John, a daughter, Shaina Rae, May 17, 1991. To Susan Savage Dickson '80 and her husband, James, a son, Christopher James, January 25, 1991. To Kathleen Kelly Hoffman '80 and her husband, David, a son, Christopher Nathan, December 27, 1990. To Leigh Lore Houseknecht '80 and her husband, Gerald, a son, Tyler Marc, April 30, 1990. To Michelle Wood Kane '80 and her husband, Bill '80, a daughter, Kristen Grace, January 2, 1991. To Lorraine Semich King '80 and her husband, Tim, a son, Ryan Paul, November 16, 1990. To Pat Sorrell Pajak '80 and her husband, Thaddeus, a daughter, Alyson Keck, August 22, 1990. To Lauren Morsey Pawlusch '80 and her husband, Michael, a son, Adam Michael, November 23, 1990. To Marian Ankrum Pitkin '80 and her husband, Jeffrey, a son, Kevin Campbell, November 6, 1990. To Pamela Mease Slansky '80 and her husband, Barry '81, a daughter, Heather Nicole, April 6, 1991. To Robert Ward '80 and his wife, Terri, a daughter, Kristen

Elizabeth, February 27, 1991. To Lisa Tucker Willoughby '80 and her husband, John '81, a son, Jeffrey Ross, March 4, 1991. To Cheryl Foytuck Barry '81 and her husband, Michael, a son, Briar Robert, January 2, 1991. To Jerry Black '81, M'84, and his wife, Barlene Burns Black '83, a son, Kyle Robertson, January 1, 1991. To Dawn Carnahan-Preshak '81 and her husband, Robert, a son, Robert James, III, February 6, 1990. To Lori Rakestraw Isack '81 and her husband, Ronald, a son, Benjamin Jacob, December 7, 1989. To Linda Ray Johnson '81 and her husband, Norman, a son, Eric Alexander, August 16, 1990. To Jean Jommersbach Klingan '81 and her husband, Kent, a daughter, Kristy Helen, June 1, 1990. To Linda Lare-Lansberry '81 and her husband, Roger, a son, Andrew Lare, January 31, 1991. To Tom Linkoski '81 and his wife, Deborah, a son, Brooks Thomas, April 18, 1990. To Deborah Sonner MacGregor '81, M'83, and her husband, Doug, a daughter, Molly Bonner, March 5, 1991. To Jan Dykstra Maund '81 and her husband, James, a daughter, Alyson Marie, March 15, 1991. To Dianne Burzease Rotz '81 and her husband, Barry '82, a son, Brenton Jacob, September 26, 1990. To Marion Tascarella Saunders '81 and her husband, Jeff, a son, Nicholas Benjamin, March 18, 1991. To Shawn Rozett Senning '81 and her husband, Michael, a son, Connor Bryce, April 3, 1991. To Marty Venzin '81 and his wife, Lisa Murphy Venzin '82, a daughter, Hannah Rose, July 7, 1990. To Mary Cipollone Cullison '82 and her husband, Charles, a son, Charles Thomas, Jr., March 28, 1990. To Daniel Dillen '82 and his wife, Karen Arosell Dillen '83, a son, Micah Thomas, April 20, 1990. To Elen Keisesky Hayes '82 and her husband, Tim '82, a daughter, Kelsey Elizabeth, January 3, 1991. To Sandy Akin Johnston '82 and her husband, Scott, a daughter, Annie Elise, July 4, 1990. To Jill Trusal Juengel '82 and her husband, Mark, a son, Eric Mark, August 27, 1990. To Karen Beaser Kegereis '82, and her husband, Doug '82, a son, Derek Alan, January 19, 1991. To Shelly Mock Lazenderfer '82 and her husband, Gregory, a daughter, Kaitlyn Kay, January 31, 1991. To Michele Spaulding Levitz '82 and her husband, Ken, a daughter, Morgan, December 11, 1990. Sherry Burger McHugh '82 and her husband, John M'84, a daughter, Kathryn Elyse, October 2, 1989. To Mike Miller '82, and his wife, Paula Dennison Miller '84, a son, Kenneth Rodger, January 4, 1991. To Sue Ann Netoskie Pope '82 and her husband, Joseph, a son, Alexander Joseph, May 12, 1990. To Biana Wasokskie Simon '82 and her husband, Ted '83, a daughter, Ashley Elizabeth, May 2, 1990. To Elaine Speziati Wahl '82, M'84, and her husband, Ron '82, a daughter, Erika Ann, September 24, 1990. To Sandra Gaceza Varia '82 and her husband, John, a son, James Anthony, January 21, 1991. To Vicki Natali Augustine '83 and her husband, David, a daughter, Alexandra, March 16, 1991. To Janet Sulava Flynn '83 and her husband, Tim, a son, Andrew James, February 1, 1991. To Angela Tulenko Bault '83 and her husband, Robert '83, a daughter, Anna Melissa, July 30, 1990. To Nancy Muniz Hewitt '83 and her husband, Tom '84, a son, Luke Albert, December 22, 1990. To Irene Long Kopczyk '83 and her husband, Thomas, a daughter, Lisa Marie, April 8, 1991. To Jacquelyn Buchanan Lebo '83 and her husband, Daniel, a daughter, Karlee Elizabeth, September 24, 1990. To Jeff Madia '83 and his wife, Oebbie Nassinger Madia '84, a daughter, Marissa Renee, February 4, 1991. To JoAnn Irvin Marsen '83 and her husband, Brian, a daughter, Kirsten Lindsey, December 18, 1990. To Maureen Knowlson Mossman '83 and her husband, John, a son, James Leo, June 29, 1990. To Tracy Maholtz Murray '83 and her husband, Tyrone '83, a son, Matthew James, April 14, 1991. David Neely '83 and his wife, Marianne Zimmerly Neely '85, a daughter, Maggie, October 15, 1990. To Kelley Hilbert Nelson '83 and her husband, Doug, a daughter, Elizabeth Christine, November 7, 1990. To Diane Lamoureux Peters '83 and her husband, Gary, a daughter, Samantha Lynn, February 4, 1991. To Jeff Regula '83 and his wife, Sandra, a son, Jeff Joe Maximilian, August 17, 1990. To Cheryl Skrabut Richards '83 and her husband, David, a daughter, Lauren Elizabeth, April 9, 1991. To Michael Weik '83 and his wife, Mary Beth, a son, Justin Michael, December 17, 1990. To Daniel Diffenderfer '84 and his wife, Theresa Semintore Diffenderfer '85, twin daughters, Riley Raye and Gillian Ginger, February 11, 1991. To Michael Formaini '84 and his wife, Carrie Dixon Formaini '86, a daughter, Erin Denise, January 14, 1991. To Scott Fraley '84 and his wife, Stephanie, twin sons, Evan Lewellyn and Myles Edward, January 1, 1991. To Justine Laughner Gaspari '84 and her husband, Ken, a daughter, Brooke, August 28, 1990. To Janice Korchok Hibshman '84 and her husband, Donald, a daughter, Brittany Nicole, August 21, 1990. To Linda Huchrowski King '84 and her husband, William, a daughter, Marie Lacey, March 6, 1991. To Mary Mackowick McCarry '84 and her husband, David '84, a daughter, Kelly Marie, May 11, 1991. To David Piper '84, M'89, and his wife, Jill, a son, Luke David, September 12, 1990. To Lori Shockey Pucci '84 and her husband, Timothy, a son, Kyle Timothy, March 19, 1991. To Tracy Fehlin Savidge '84 and her husband, Bob, a daughter, Kara Ellen, September 8, 1990. To Lisa Rush Schlientz '84 and her husband, Robert '84, a daughter, Kelsey Maria, April 6, 1991. To Kimberly Zana Schneider '84 and her husband, William, a son, Brett William, March 24, 1990. To Sandy Servinsky Scott '84 and her husband, Jeff, a daughter, Shannon Marie, February 23, 1991. To Lori Bowman Sturey '84 and her husband, John, a son, Ethan John, August 20, 1990. To Heidi Schoen Szoch '84 and her husband, Robert, a daughter, Heather Christine, April 9, 1991. To Sharon Badstuber-Hagen '85 and her husband, Gary, a daughter, Sarah Jane, April 17, 1991. Henry Demby '85 and his wife, Joyce, two children, Jahmar Austin, February 11, 1988, and Khalil Dontae, October 17, 1990. To Amy Roman Jermolowski '85 and her husband, Bob, a daughter, Rachel Elizabeth, March 1, 1991. To Lucy McNabb Kaczanowicz '85 and her husband, Mark, a son, Mark Alan, II, April 28, 1991. To Carol Soeder Koerper '85 and her husband, Michael, a son, Steven Michael, December 20, 1990. To Martha Wachna Patsy '85 and her husband, Donald '85, a daughter, Nicole Elizabeth, February 24, 1991. To Carl Rossetto '85 and his wife, Donna, a daughter, Kiersten Rebecca, March 30, 1991. To Bruce Weinstein '85 and his wife, Deborah Wilcox Weinstein '86, a son, Joshua, February 4, 1991. To Jane Bofinger Williams '85 and her husband, Richard '85, a son, Jordan Richard, December 24, 1990. To Karen Kot Campbell '88 and her husband, Stephen, a son, Blake Ian, April 13, 1991. To Karl Estright '86 and his wife, Deborah Huff Estright '87, a son, Tyler Austin, March 9, 1991. To Nicole Haas Howard '88 and her husband, Scott '88, a daughter, Danielle Elizabeth, January 6, 1991. To Kathleen Kraus Kunes '88 and her husband, Lamar ("Buzz") '86, a son, Vincent Leonard, May 19, 1991. To Kwang Liew '88 and his wife, Theresa, a daughter, Pei-Ming Zamborsky, February 16, 1991. To Matthew Macek

In memory of their coach, Owen Dougherty, members of the 1991 IUP baseball team wore his initials on their sleeves.

John Bender

'88 and his wife, Nina Georgeou Macek '87, a daughter, Samantha Mary, March 5, 1991. To Denise MacLean '88, M'88, a daughter, Elyse Marie, January 13, 1991. To Nancy Fay McCracken '88 and her husband, Brian, a son, Kyle Jeffrey, January 14, 1991. To Gwen O'Shea Miller '88 and her husband, Chris '88, a son, Matthew, June 27, 1989. To Sheila Rapatski Schmidt '88 and her husband, Harold, a son, Zachery Alexander, February 7, 1991. To Cathy McFann Cheglin '87 and her husband, Peter, a son, Aaron Parviz, April 18, 1991. To Deborah Cavaleit Grosser '87 and her husband, Scott, a son, Bradley Scott, January 14, 1991. To Jim Schryver '87 and his wife, Peggy Martin Schryver '88, a son, Andrew Martin, March 15, 1991. To Glenda Risinger Brewer '88 and her husband, Gerald, a son, Eric Scott, January 27, 1991. To Jeffrey Bush '88 and his wife, Ann Kopfer Bush '90, a son, Tyler Kennedy, August 30, 1990. To Bradley Moyer '88 and his wife, Kellie, a daughter, Amanda Noelle, January 4, 1990. To Peter Weinstein '88 and his wife, Katrina, a daughter, Sara Brianna, September 1, 1990.

Deaths

1910: Olive Pearl King. 1911: Anna Holt Bovaird. 1912: Margaret Yarnall Gettemy*, Myrtle Balmer Mortimer. 1914: Lucile Zeidler Hulme, Edith Buchanan Wolfenden. 1917: Alma Dierker Wright. 1918: Clara Weise Jones

1924: Anita Tredennick Hanson, Florence Brantlinger Moritz. 1925: Margaret Ruddock Davison. 1928: Thelma Helm Hueston, Jane McAdoo Jackson, Rhoda Brown Jackson, Ola Fox Knupp, Mildred "Pat" Love Lewis, Myrtle Appleyard Pifer. 1927: Hannah Cornelius Brubaker, Mary King, Margaret McCloskey, Johanna Mertz. 1928: Ethelda Frye Kunkle

1931: Lisle Learn, Mabel Markell Furl. 1932: Eoline Lloyd Oelschlagler.

1935: Eunice Peebles Ryan. 1936: Edward Bracken

1940: Katherine Dietrich Bennett, John Paulisick. 1941: Ruth Stewart Gray, William Johnson, Frances Marietta. 1944: Olive Wetzel Dzel-sky, Florence Brantlinger Moritz. 1947: Earla Mentzer McCorkle. 1948: Robert Finn

1953: Kenneth Gould. 1959: Jean Kunkle

1964: Jerilyn Geiger Mahkovec. 1966: Michael Rizzo. 1968: Mary Louise Wolfe Papciak. 1969: Ruth Tornell

1970: John McAuliffe. 1971: James Baker. 1972: Robert Lamison, Jeanne Lindaman. 1975: Judith Lowmaster Holiday, Ralph Mock. 1977: John Francis Henry, James Sheleheda

1983: Ariel Meyer, Ronald Ramsey. 1984: Lisa Daniels

*former faculty member

Other Deaths

Owen Dougherty, who served the university in a number of capacities in a career that spanned thirty-five years, died February 27, 1991.

James McKimley, who taught mathematics at the university for several years, died March 5, 1991.

Ralph Reynolds, who taught in the art department for thirty years until his retirement in 1971, died May 16, 1991. Still painting only weeks before his death, he was scheduled to be the subject of "Retired Faculty Spotlight" in this issue of IUP Magazine.

Lewis Shaffer, a professor and coach at IUP from 1945 until his retirement in 1972, died April 10, 1991.

Robert Woodward, retired chairperson of the geoscience department and the first to serve as the university's director of institutional research, died May 2, 1991. He was associated with the university for nineteen years.

Tom Campisano

Benchmarks: A student enjoys one of the benches on campus that have been tagged with the names of alumni chapters across the country. The plaques serve to remind students that in many of the places they will travel after graduation, they will find fellow alumni of IUP.

Football, 1991

All home games, denoted by boldface, are played at George P. Miller Stadium on campus.

September 7	Northeast Missouri State	1:30 p.m.
September 14	at Lock Haven	1:30 p.m.
September 21	at East Stroudsburg	1:00 p.m.
September 28	Clarion	1:30 p.m.
October 5	at Towson State	7:00 p.m.
October 12	Shippensburg/Homecoming	2:00 p.m.
October 19	at California	1:00 p.m.
October 26	Slippery Rock/Open House	1:30 p.m.
November 2	Millersville/Parents' Day	1:30 p.m.
November 9	at Edinboro	1:30 p.m.
November 16	open

Not Always What You'd Expect

John Bender

IUP Magazine gives its readers a slant on the university that's unique—just as IUP is unique among universities. Last year, the magazine won a Silver Medal for Most Improved Publication from the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education. This year, it received a Distinguished Achievement Award from the Educational Press Association of America.

IUP Magazine has won these awards with a budget much smaller than the budgets of other award winners. (The winner of CASE's Gold Medal in the Most Improved Publications category was Pitt Magazine.) But rising postal rates mean that mailing to all IUP alumni and students' families costs forty percent more this year than it did last year. Although the magazine is published on a comparative shoestring, the shoestring is stretched.

Like other university periodicals across the country, IUP Magazine is establishing a voluntary subscription program. A suggested amount is ten dollars, but any amount will be appreciated. You will still receive the magazine on a regular basis, regardless of whether or not you subscribe. But if you do subscribe, you will have the additional satisfaction of knowing you've done something special.

Please enter my voluntary subscription to IUP Magazine for 1991-92. I have enclosed my check for $_____, made payable to Foundation for IUP—IUP Magazine.

Mailing label I.D. #, if any _____

Name _____

Address _____

City _____

State/Zip _____

Phone _____

Mail to IUP Magazine Voluntary Subscription, 322 Sutton Hall, IUP, Indiana, PA 15705. Your gift is tax deductible if you itemize your return.

Dealing with AIDS

I just want to express my admiration for both Bil Gordon and for IUP Magazine for printing his letter, which you titled "AIDS Awareness" [Spring, 1991]. I am proud of being an alumnus of a school that has dealt with this terrible disease since 1987 and shows concern for the sufferers. I helped run an AIDS program here in New York City from 1985 to 1988, when people were more scared, unaware, and uncaring than now, so I'm fully aware of what destruction AIDS has wrought in our current world. Keep up this good and necessary work. Thank you!

William Stout '73
New York, N.Y.

Way to Go, Goose

I was thrilled to see an article about my old friend Marv Goslin in the Spring issue of IUP Magazine. Throughout the years I often wondered what happened to him after I graduated.

You see, I met Marv Goslin after I fell in love with his wonderful voice on WQMU radio in Indiana. Thank you for the pictures also. He hasn't changed a bit.

Congratulations on your recent marriage. Marv, Shelley's a lucky girl.

Carla Rodavich Paull '73
Spring Hill, Fla.

Student Support

Alumni inspired by your Spring, 1991, issue can help nontraditional students currently attending IUP by supporting the student child care center. The center enables over forty students a year to attend classes at IUP by providing them with affordable child care. Donations should be sent to the Foundation for IUP and designated for the University Student Children's Center.

Amy Lydic '75
Program Director
University Student Children's Center

Recyclability

I am a graduate of IUP and enjoy receiving IUP Magazine. However, the glossy paper upon which the magazine is printed is not recyclable. I urge IUP Magazine to make the switch from glossy, nonrecyclable paper to nonglossy, recyclable paper so that the readers can do their part to alleviate the environmental problems facing our country and the world.

While nonglossy paper does not offer the quality of its glossy counterpart, it keeps trees standing in our forests and would keep IUP Magazine out of the local landfill. I would gladly recycle IUP Magazine if I were able to, and I believe that most readers would do the same. Please consider the recyclable alternative.

Michael Kuzemchak '89
State College, Pa.

Desert Storm

Since publication of the Fall-Winter, 1990, issue of IUP Magazine, many of the alumni have found themselves in a unique situation. There are numerous IUP graduates involved, at all different levels, with Operation Desert Storm.

Although we are a small percentage of each graduating class, we take pride in our relationship with IUP. IUP Magazine is a helpful way for all of us to keep up to date and in touch with the university.

Hopefully, the university and IUP Magazine will take the time to recognize the alumni who served in Operation Desert Storm. Especially those who, Heaven forbid, may have given their lives for their country. Our alma mater is a special place, and we take pride in it. Thank you for keeping us informed.

Michael Gutzat '87
1st Lieutenant, U.S. Army

(Editor's note: See the story in this issue.)

The Campus Store
IUP Campus
Indiana, PA 15701
Telephone (412) 349-1194

Sizzle and Sweat

by Al King

Like any ten-year-old, the NCAA women's athletics program has some big dreams. And when the NCAA closes its eyes and blows out all the candles on its birthday cake, all those dreams won't go up in smoke.

A mere decade old, the NCAA women's sports program still has a lot of catching up to do.

This is the tenth anniversary of NCAA women's athletics. During the past decade, championships for women have expanded, the crowds that follow women's teams have grown, and more women than ever before are participating in intercollegiate athletics.

Like most colleges and universities, IUP is celebrating the NCAA's tenth anniversary. While the celebration goes on, many institutions are also taking stock, reviewing what's happened in the past, and determining what the next step should be. That's certainly the case at IUP.

"IUP has a strong Division II program," said Dr. Vivian Fuller, IUP's associate athletic director. "We have a broad-based program for women. On the national level, women have a ways to go, because it took us a while to get organized athletic programs in place.

John Bender

"Women should never be satisfied with their accomplishments. They should strive for greater accomplishments right up to the year 2000."

The number of women participating in athletics has increased dramatically over the last decade. Today, more than a million girls participate in youth and high school sports. Last year, more than ten thousand women received collegiate athletic scholarships that carried a price tag of $51 million. Those figures should continue to rise.

"In the 1970s, American society tolerated women in sports," said Merrily Dean Baker, assistant executive director for administration at the NCAA national office.

John Bender

Podbielski's biggest concern is that Title IX, the legislation passed in 1972 to ensure equality for women's varsity athletics, is sometimes ignored.

"In the 1980s, society supported women in sports. I believe in the 1990s, society will embrace women in sports."

Regardless of the decade, IUP has been a leader in women's athletics. In 1983, a Pittsburgh Press survey ranked IUP first among women's sports programs at tri-state colleges and universities. The Press cited IUP for the number of women's sports sponsored, the emphasis it placed on them, and the goals it had set for the success of these programs.

That emphasis has only gotten stronger. Every year, IUP celebrates national Women in Sport Day with an on-campus program. This past year, students and coaches from Indiana County high schools had the opportunity to come to campus and take part in the program.

That emphasis has carried over to the playing field. Five IUP women earned All-America honors in 1990-91. The women's cross-country team won the Pennsylvania Conference championship, and in tennis, the tandem of Tammy Recher and Heidi Sjoberg won a conference title.

In the classroom, the women's swimming team has been named Academic All-Americans by the College Swimming Coaches of America three different times. (In fact, every time the award has been presented, IUP has been recognized). In 1989-90, the women's basketball team had a grade-point average of 3.31, which meant the entire team was on the Dean's List for the academic year.

IUP is aggressively working to increase scholarship dollars. The key fund-raiser for women's athletics, the Nell Jack Golf Classic, was held at the Indiana Country Club on June 14.

"With the fund-raising package we have, we're able to offer limited funding to all our programs," Fuller said.

It was Fuller's predecessor, Ruth Podbielski, who laid the foundation for the IUP women's program. Podbielski was a member of the IUP faculty for thirty-one years. She served as associate athletic director for

"IN THE 1970S, AMERICAN SOCIETY TOLERATED
WOMEN IN SPORTS.
I BELIEVE IN THE 1990S,
SOCIETY WILL EMBRACE
WOMEN IN SPORTS."

Women's Sports from 1970 until her retirement in 1987 and ushered in the women's varsity sports program.

Today, Podbielski is one of the program's staunchest fans. But she has concerns about women's athletics on local and national levels. The biggest is that Title IX, the legislation passed in 1972 to ensure equality for women's varsity athletics, is sometimes ignored.

"The next big step is to reevaluate programs," said Podbielski. "We have to work through that. We still have too many athletic directors and administrators who, so long as no one's monitoring Title IX, just let it go. They allow programs to drift."

Under Podbielski, and now under Fuller, there has been no drifting for women's athletics. Instead, a steady course has been set.

Women's sports at IUP were initiated at the varsity level in 1970-71. The first varsity teams were basketball, fencing, tennis, and volleyball. Field hockey was added in 1972 and gymnastics in 1973. From 1977 to 1981, swimming, track and field, softball, and cross country were added.

All of those sports have enjoyed success over the past decade. The goal for the 1990s is to build and expand them. There is also the business of capturing a national title. No IUP women's team has ever won an NCAA national championship.

"We want to have equality in all our programs," Fuller said. "We want to make sure IUP is well represented on a national level and continue to provide opportunities for women as student-athletes, coaches, and administrators."

Al King contributes regularly to IUP Magazine from the IUP Sports Information Office.

John Bender

At left, Leah Simmons drives to the outside in the game against Shippensburg. Above, Coach Jan Kiger with Traci Lengel, left, and Cathy Torchia

Publications Office
Indiana University of Pennsylvania
322 John Sutton Hall
Indiana, PA 15705

123100

Address Correction Requested

Non-Profit Org.
U.S. Postage Paid
Permit No. 198
Indiana, PA 15701

MR RICHARD R CHAMPERLIN
LIBRARY/MEDIA RES
110 STAPLETON LIBRARY

3ouch

